He served in the New Hampshire Line as an Ensign in the 16th Continental Infantry, January 1, 1776; 2nd Lieutenant 1st New Hampshire, November 8, 1776; 1st Lieutenant, September 20, 1777; Regimental Quartermaster, August 23, 1778; Captain & Lieutenant, March 24, 1780; Captain, July 5, 1780, and served to close of war. He married Susanna Fitch (1743-1822); children: Susanna b. 1770 & Sarah b. 1777. He Donated $10.00 to help establish Marietta College, was the second post-master in Marietta, succeeding. Hon. R. J. Meigs, and holding it from 1795-1801. He was also appointed a Judge of the Court of the Quarter Sessions of the Peace in 1796. He Died at 56 years of age on September 17, 1801 and buried at Mound Cemetery, Marietta, OH. Cemetery Notes: The Mound Cemetery was established in 1801 by the citizens of Marietta, Ohio, to preserve an Ohio Hopewell burial mound dating from 100 BC to 500 AD, and provide for settler burials. After the Revolutionary War, the area along the Ohio River and Marietta attracted many veterans rewarded with land grants. General Rufus Putnam donated land for the cemetery. The cemetery is thought to have the largest number of Revolutionary War Officer burials, among other important Ohio River pioneer settlers and Northwest Territory politicians. Burials continue to today despite the limited space.

NASH, JOHN THOMAS (Tuscarawas County) [40.639586 -81.455061]

Birth site and Date is unknown He served as a Private in the 13th Virginia Regiment in Colonel Campbell's Company commanded by Colonel John Gibson for at least October to February 1779 in OH. He died on February 23, 1779 with a group who were ambushed while gathering firewood at Fort Laurens and killed by Indians under the command of the British. The Americans completed the construction of Fort Laurens—named after Henry Laurens, president of the Continental Congress—in early December 1778 under the command of General Lachlan McIntosh. The fort, built on the west bank of the Tuscarawas River was to serve three purposes. First, the Americans hoped to use Fort Laurens as a base to attack the British garrison located at Detroit. Second, it would hopefully deter American Indians loyal to the British from conducting raids against American settlers in eastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania. And finally, by offering protection to the neutral Christian Delaware's, the Americans might convince them to forsake their neutrality and join the patriots' cause.

In total, 21 soldiers lost their lives at Fort Laurens after a handful of British soldiers and a couple hundred Wyandot, Mingo, Munsee, and Delaware warriors laid siege to the fort before it was abandoned in 1779. Later, part of the fort was demolished during the building of the Ohio and Erie Canal. Currently none of the original fort remains above ground, but the outline of the fort is visible.

OSBORN, GEORGE (Tuscarawas County) [40.639586 -81.455061]

Born in 1758 in Agusta County, Virginia (now WVA) to parents George and Hannah Osburn. He served as a Private in the 13th Virginia Regiment in Colonel Campbell's Company commanded by Colonel John Gibson for at least October to February 1779 in OH. He died on February 23, 1779 with a group who were ambushed while gathering firewood at Fort Laurens and killed by Indians under the command of the British. The Americans completed the construction of Fort Laurens—named after Henry Laurens, president of the Continental Congress—in early December 1778 under the command of General Lachlan McIntosh. The fort, built on the west bank of the Tuscarawas River was to serve three purposes. First, the Americans hoped to use Fort Laurens as a base to attack the British garrison located at Detroit. Second, it would hopefully deter American Indians loyal to the British from conducting raids against American settlers in eastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania. And finally, by offering protection to the neutral Christian Delaware's, the Americans might convince them to forsake their neutrality and join the patriots' cause.
In total, 21 soldiers lost their lives at Fort Laurens after a handful of British soldiers and a couple hundred Wyandot, Mingo, Munsee, and Delaware warriors laid siege to the fort before it was abandoned in 1779. Later, part of the fort was demolished during the building of the Ohio and Erie Canal. Currently none of the original fort remains above ground, but the outline of the fort is visible.

PARKER, SAMUEL, (Ashtabula County) [41.85250 -80.61080]

Born on January 10, 1750 Wallingford, New Haven, Connecticut. He served in the Revolutionary War his Connecticut troops were in the siege of Saint John, not far from Montreal, September to November 1775, when the British surrendered and St. John was taken, and soon Montreal. These men enlisted for six months, and when their enlistment was up, winter was coming on and many had died from sickness, and many had returned. They had a tough time. The plan was to capture Canada - Quebec remained, and Benedict Arnold was approaching through Maine to join up with General Montgomery, who commanded the troops Samuel Parker was with and who had already taken Montreal. They had a lot of trouble - surrounded Quebec and finally attacked and General Montgomery was killed. Samuel Parker was a wheelwright by trade, making spinning wheels. It was the habit of soldiers of the American Revolution to enlist in the spring and go home in the fall as there was not much fighting during the winter months - thus, Captain Asa Jones enlisted for six months during nearly every year of the Revolution, and Jared Parker married his daughter, Betsy Jones. Captain Jones lived, in later years, at Greene, New York. It is noted that Samuel Parker at one time lived there also and later emigrated to various points west in New York and finally into Ohio. It is probable that Jared Parker, his son, was with him for there is a record in the recorder's office that Jared Parker bought two acres of land in Scipio and sold it about two years later. Evidently they did not live long at Scipio. He married Hanah Bunnell (1756-1835); children: William, Jarad, . PARKS, JAMES, LT. (Tuscarawas County) [40.639586 -81.455061]

Birth site and Date is unknown He served as a Private in the 13th Virginia Regiment in Colonel Campbell's Company commanded by Colonel John Gibson for at least October to February 1779 in OH. He died on February 23, 1779 with a group who were ambushed while gathering firewood at Fort Laurens and killed by Indians under the command of the British. The Americans completed the construction of Fort Laurens—named after Henry Laurens, president of the Continental Congress—in early December 1778 under the command of General Lachlan McIntosh. The fort, built on the west bank of the Tuscarawas River was to serve three purposes. First, the Americans hoped to use Fort Laurens as a base to attack the British garrison located at Detroit. Second, it would hopefully deter American Indians loyal to the British from conducting raids against American settlers in eastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania. And finally, by offering protection to the neutral Christian Delaware's, the Americans might convince them to forsake their neutrality and join the patriots' cause.

In total, 21 soldiers lost their lives at Fort Laurens after a handful of British soldiers and a couple hundred Wyandot, Mingo, Munsee, and Delaware warriors laid siege to the fort before it was abandoned in 1779. Later, part of the fort was demolished during the building of the Ohio and Erie Canal. Currently none of the original fort remains above ground, but the outline of the fort is visible.

PATTERSON, JOHN, (Preble County) [39.60325 -84.76068]

Born January, 1763 in Ireland son of Samuel & Mary Patterson. He served in the Revolutionary War in South Carolina and Captain Cowan's Company of militia of Col Reed's Regiment and General Williamson's [Andrew Williamson's] Brigade. He was with Col Clarke when he took possession of Augusta, but was soon driven away by the British, they continued on this tour until after the Battle of Kings Mountain on the 7th of October 1780 in South Carolina. Pension application # S17626. He married Mary Chambers (1764-1824); children: Samuel b. 1804. The State of Ohio Preble County Court of Common Pleas September Term 1832 On this 18th day of September in the year of our Lord 1832 personally appeared before the honorable the Judges of the Court of Common Pleas in and for the County of Preble in the State of Ohio John Patterson aged sixty nine years a resident of the County aforesaid who being first duly sworn according to law doth on his oath make the following declaration in order to obtain the benefit of the act of Congress passed June the 7th 1832. That in the month of August 1778 he entered the service of the United States as a substitute for his father Samuel Patterson in 96 district South Carolina and Captain Cowan's Company of militia of Col Reed's Regiment and General Williamson's [Andrew Williamson's] Brigade. The force rendezvoused at Beaverdam Creek in Georgia deponent served on this tour three months during which time he was engaged in defending the country against the aggression of the Cherokees at the end of the three months he received a written discharge signed by Lieutenant Davis who at that time had command of the company in place of Captain Cowan during this tour deponent assisted to destroy the corn of the Indians and to burn seven Indian towns. In April 1780 deponent was drafted to go to Charleston under Captain Cowan who then belonged to Col Pikens' [sic, Andrew Pickens'] Regiment, when this draft had proceeded about eighty miles on the way to Charleston they were met by an express informing them the city had surrendered. Col Pikins then marched his men to Camden, he was out on this tour about one month. In September of the same year deponent went to Soap Creek in Georgia and volunteered to serve in Captain Dun's [sic, Joseph Dunn's] company of Colonel Clark's [sic, Elijah Clarke's] Regiment. He was with Col Clarke when he took possession of the town of Augusta but was soon driven away by the British, he continued in the service on this tour until after the battle of King's Mountain which was on the seventh of October. After this battle the company under Captain Dunn dispersed being all volunteers for no definite time deponent with three others went to Mecklenburg County in North Carolina and remained with his friends until January 1781. When Lord Cornwallis commenced his march to Virginia deponent volunteered to serve for six weeks in a light horse company under the command of Captain Grimes of Col Irwin's [?] Regiment he was engaged in guarding the forts on the Catawba River about one week, he was then marched to Guilford Court house. Near Guilford his company joined the forces under General Green [sic, Nathanael Greene]. During this tour he was engaged in several skirmishes with the British but was in no general engagement. At the end of the six weeks for which he had volunteered he received a written discharge from Captain Grimes in March 1781. In the summer of 1781 he enlisted in the State troops of South Carolina for 10 months in Captain Francis Moore's company of light horse, Col Middleton's Regiment and General Sumpter' [sic, Thomas Sumter's,] Brigade. In March 1782 when deponent's time expired was discharged by Captain Moore at Orangeburg on Edisto [River] to prove this ten months service he has procured the deposition of William Caldwell who served during the same ten months with deponent. Deponent knows of no witnesses living by whom he can prove the rest of his services but he has been long known to Rev. Alexander Porter, John Foster, David Macdill and others who reside in his neighborhood and by whom he can as he believes prove that he sustains a good character for truth and veracity and that he has always been reputed and believed in his neighborhood to have been a soldier of the revolution. The written discharges which deponent received from his officers have been lost. He has a written record of his age by which it appears that he was born in Ireland in January 1763. After the war deponent lived in South Carolina until the year Eighteen hundred and seven when he came to Preble County in the State of Ohio where he has since resided and still resides. He hereby relinquishes every claim whatever to a pension or annuity except the present and declares that his name is not on the pension roll of the agency of any state. Sworn to and subscribed the day and year foresaid.

PLATTER, CHRISTIAN, (Ross Co.) [39.22839 -83.24604]

Born on November 15, 1760, Neuweiler, Germany son of Joseph (1723-1810) & Anna Barbara (1730-1810) Luickebiten. Revolutionary serv in PA. Christian was a lad of 5 years of age when his parents left the place of their nativity and came to America. The family settled somewhere in Frederic County, Maryland, where he grew into manhood. He would be 16 years old when the Colonies rebelled against the Mother County in 1776. That he, as well as his older brother, Peter, were soldiers of the Revolution. besides serving against the British in the war for independence, he was a Private in Captain Ross's company, in Col. Crawfords' expedition against the Indians in Ohio, when the battle of Sandusky was fought on the 4th and 5th of June in 1782. He would then have been 22 years of age, and the family of his father was living on the farm on Pigeon Creek, Washington, Pennsylvania. [The Crawford expedition, also known as the Sandusky expedition and Crawford's Defeat, was a 1782 campaign on the western front of the American Revolutionary War, and one of the final operations of the conflict. Led by Colonel William Crawford, the campaign's goal was to destroy enemy American Indian towns along the Sandusky River in the Ohio Country, with the hope of ending Indian attacks on American settlers being promulgated by British Rangers. The expedition was one in a long series of raids against enemy settlements which both sides had conducted throughout the war.

Crawford led about 500 volunteer militiamen, mostly from Pennsylvania, deep into American Indian territory, with the intention of surprising the Indians. The Indians (about 500) and their British allies from Detroit (about 100 Rangers) had already learned of the expedition, however, and gathered a force to oppose the Americans. After a day of indecisive fighting near the Sandusky towns, the Americans found themselves surrounded and attempted to retreat. The retreat turned into a rout, but most of the Americans managed to find their way back to Pennsylvania. About 70 Americans were killed; Indian and British losses were minimal.]
He married the daughter of Philip Heinrich & Sarah Keller Krebs, Christina Crabs (1773-1842) in 1787; children: Barbara b. 1788, Sarah, Catherine, Mary Ann, Andrew & Joseph b. 1800. POE, ADAM, (Stark County) [40.78830 -81.60250]

Born 1747 Frederick Co Maryland to father George Jacob Poe (1717-1766). In 1772, Adam followed his older brother, Andrew, westward to a new settlement on Harmon's Creek, west of Pittsburgh, in Washington County, Pennsylvania. At this time Adam was

26 years old. On October 12, 1777, Adam married Elizabeth Matthews-Cochran. Adam Poe and his brother, Andrew, were well-known in frontier history as the famous Indian fighters throughout the area of Western Pennsylvania, Northeast Ohio and West Virginia, which is known as the tri-state area. Adam had the skill of a frontiersman and woodsman. Adam is referred to the Indian fighter, but was actually an Indian Spy/Scout along with others to watch the Indians to see what their plans were for attacking the white settlements. Adam served in the Revolutionary War and the War of 1812. He served as a Pvt with PA in the Revolutionary War and killed Big Foot Indian in 1781 at the mouth of Tomlinson's Run, Hancock Co., WVA. In the Fall of 1781, the Wyandot Indians had sent seven of its warriors across into the white settlers' settlement taking an old man prisoner and taking what they could with them. The Poe brothers and some other men pursued after the Indians where they caught up with them at the Ohio River. The other men had overtaken the five Indians while Andrew Poe took on the other two Indians in hand-to-hand combat. Andrew called to his brother to help him and Adam came to his aid. In the end, Adam Poe loaded his rifle more quickly than the Indian and shot Big Foot killing him. The spot where this conflict took place is along Route 2 north of New Cumberland in Hancock County, West Virginia and is marked with a historical marker. In 1803, Adam moved from Pennsylvania to Columbiana County, Ohio. He later settled in Wayne County, Ohio in 1813. He married Elizabeth Matthews Cochran (1758-1844); children: George, Andrew, Sarah & David. He died on September 23, 1838 and Buried at Sixteen Church Cemetery, Massillon, Stark Co., OH. POE, JOHN (Ross County) [39.32420 -82.98610]

Born on September 14, 1750, at Winchester, Frederick Co, VA. Parents : German descent, father Balthasar Poe. He served as a Volunteer VA rifleman, 18 mos under Col Morgan. Regular dragoon under Cols White and Washington. At battle of the Cowpens; battle of Guilford's Court House; at Bluford's defeat at Hanging Rock. Was taken prisoner, after being wounded by sword cut on head and his horse shot under him. Was exchanged and present at Cornwallis' surrender at Yorktown. During serv rode express for Gen Lafayette from Williamsburg to York. Moved from Va with his family and settled near Chillicothe, Ross Co, OH, in 1806. In Jan, 1833, made a profession of religion in Associate Reformed Church under Rev. J. Claybaugh. He married Anna Margaret__; children: Andrew & Jacob. Was almost last soldier of Rev to die in Ross Co. He Died on October 7, 1843, Scioto Twp, Ross Co., OH and buried at place unknown, but he was probably buried in Scioto Township where he lived for many years until his death. A cemetery book published by the Ross County Genealogical Society indicates that most early rural family burial grounds in Scioto Township have disappeared without a trace. In the late 1980's gravestones were erected to honor John Poe and twenty six other Revolutionary War soldiers. The gravestones were placed in lot 226, section 9D, Grandview Cemetery, 300 Brookside Drive, Chillicothe, Ross County, Ohio, 45601 but the soldiers are actually buried elsewhere. A cemetery book indicates that John Poe's gravestone inscription in

Grandview Cemetery indicates: John Poe, Pvt., Virginia Continental Line, Revolutionary War, 14 September 1750 - 7 October 1841. The death year of 1841 as reported in this cemetery book is not correct. The Scioto Gazette published John Poe's obituary on 12 October 1843, and it indicated that he died on 7 October 1843.. POMEROY, ICHABOD, (Geauga County) [41.60295 -81.14481]

Born on March 9, 1757, South Hampton, Mass. Parents: Noah (1719-1810) and Temperance Pomeroy. He served as a Pvt with Capt John Kirkland's Company, Col Ruggles Woodbridge's Regt. Enlisting Aug 16, 1777, disch Nov 29, 1777. He Married Lucy Harris, Feb 14, 1782; Children : Eltweed, Anna, Daniel, Ann, Lucy, Sarah, Josiah, Temperance, Daniel, Tirzah, Ichabod, Althus, Noah. He Died at 83 years of age on November 13, 1843, Hambden, OH and Buried at Hambden Center Cemetery, lot 13, Hambden, Geauga Co., OH. Mr. Pomeroy was a christian. His life accorded to his profession. When the first Congregational Church was organized in Hambden, about thirty-four years since, he was one of five who constituted that body. For a long succession of years, he was an active and efficient Deacon. As a christian he possessed a sound, vigorous and discriminating mind. He was not a superficial thinker - what he read, he pondered, digested. The Bible was his book of books. His religious sentiments were the result, not of the teachings of others - but were the fruit of his own investigation of the word of God. He could give a reason for his fait. He died in peace - he rests from his labors - his memory is blessed. Ref: Pension Records, Vol 5, p 514;

PORTER, ELIJAH, CAPT. (Medina County) [41.05394 -81.79791]

Born on December 4, 1757 Connecticut. He served in the Revolutionary War and was promoted to Capt. He married Aurelia Smith; children: unknown. In 1821, there occurred, a sad death that caused a gloom to rest upon the entire settlement. Mr. Elijah Porter started in the month of November, from the residence of his son, Shubael Porter, who lived a short distance south of Seville, to go to Medina on business connected with his pension, which he was then receiving from the United States Government, as a discharged Revolutionary soldier. He went on foot to Wilson's Corners, where he obtained a horse from his son-in-law, David Wilson, and with it started through the woods for Medina. Late at night the horse returned without a rider, and some blood was upon the stirrup. Mr. Wilson and the neighbors at once set out in search of him with lanterns and finally found him in what was called the "four miles woods," near the center of Montville, sitting at the foot of a beech tree, so chilled that he could scarcely speak. He had taken off one of his boots, and it was nearly filled with blood. A deep wound was upon his leg, which had the appearance of having been caused by a snag or root. They placed him upon a horse to take him to Medina; but, when they had proceeded but a short distance, he waved his hand as if for them to stop, and immediately expired. With heavy hearts, they then returned home. He was buried near David Wilson's residence (in what is now River Styx Cemetery), and was the first white man buried in Guilford Township.

POULSON, JOHN (Harrison County) [40.30848 -81.19192]

Born on April 9, 1763 in Maryland. He served as a Lieutenant, Captain and Major in the Virginia Continental Line, with the 9th Virginia Regiment appointed Captain in 1780. He married Susan Knight (1781-1865); children: Nelson, Matilda, Rachel and Andrew. His land patents list that he was from Frederick County, Maryland. In 1820 he was listed in Cadiz Township, Harrison County, OH. His land patents in 1823 were for west ½ northwest part and ½ northeast part of section 15, Township 11, and Range 6. This 160 acres is now part of Clendening Lake, his son Nelson had the east ½ northwest part. John apparently died on his farm on February 14, 1847 and buried at Old Deersville Cemetery, Main Street, Deersville, Franklin Township, Harrison Co., OH 44699. Cemetery notes and/or description: Old Deersville Cemetery is located to the rear and west side of the Deersville Methodist Church on Main Street in Deersville (Franklin Township), Harrison county, Ohio. Unlike most early settlements, Deersville had one cemetery. Members of other churches were buried there. Most of the burials were in the eighteen hundreds. Patterson Union cemetery, across the street, has most of the burials in the nineteen hundreds. Deersville is at the crossroads of county roads 2 and 21. Since it is located in the corner of Franklin Township by Stock, Nottingham, and Washington Townships, many of the people buried here lived in the other townships. It is the southwest quarter of section 25, township 12, range 6. Charles Hanna. Historical Collections of Harrison County, in the State of Ohio, (NewYork: Printed Privately, 1906), p. 228, 384. H.J. POWELL, WILLIAM, (Logan County) [40.36385 -83.76270]

Born in 1757, Lancaster Co, Pennsylvania. He served as a Private. Name on alphabetical list of soldiers who received pay for service in Revolutionary War in Logan County, OH. He married Elizabeth Stilley (1766-1840); children: Peter, William & Rahel. He Died in 1835, Bellefontaine, OH and buried at the Powell Park Cemetery, Bellefontaine, Logan Co., OH. Cemetery notes and/or description: Powell Park Cemetery is located at the corner of Elm Street and Brown Avenue in Bellefontaine, Logan, Ohio. When the town of Bellefontaine was laid out in 1820, a plot in the northwest corner was reserved to be used as a burial ground. This was in use until 1852 when the new Bellefontaine cemetery was laid out. As stated by Gen. Robert P. Kennedy in his Historical Review of Logan County, published in 1903, "Within its limits are still resting some of the older and earlier citizens who came into the wilderness and did much to make this one of the garden spots of the new State of Ohio; over them grow the grasses of nearly a hundred years." It is known that some of the bodies were moved to other cemeteries. But some the the early citizens are still resting in the cemetery, now known as Powell Park Cemetery or simply as Powell Park. While the graves are still there only two markers remain. In 2008, the cemetery is a roughly block-sized recreation area with a basketball court, playground equipment, trees and grass. The grave markers were reportedly removed in the early 1900s in order to stimulate real estate sales around the park. Ref : Natl No 75454, Vol 76, D. A. R. Lin. For infor Bellefontaine Chap. PRIOR, SIMEON, (Summit County) [41.16190 -81.50830]

Born Norwich, Connecticut on May 16, 1754. He enlisted at the age of 21 and served as a Pvt in Capt Jedediah Waterman's Company, Col John Durkee's Conn Regt. Pensioned in Portage Co. He married 1)Katherine Wight (1763-1838), 2)Polly Culver; children: Sally, Lydia & William. Simeon Prior, his wife and ten children, were the first white people to settle here. They were from Westfield River, near Northampton, Massachusetts, and landed at Cleveland, from an open boat in July, 1802, the year OH became a state. Cleveland was a hamlet of log cabins. The family traveled on to Hudson, which had been settled two years before and remained there while Simeon went on to find his home site, six miles away, where he built a cabin on Lot 25. The family moved in in August. Simeon purchased 400 acres, and as there were no roads nor conveniences, they were compelled to be self-reliant and resourceful. Meal made from corn was pounded fine on a stump, mixed with water, salted and baked into bread on a split shingle before an open fire. Their clothing was made from flax grown on the farm and spun into cloth. The men hunted game to supply meat. Winter wear was buckskin moccasins, pants and jackets until later years when it was possible to protect sheep from the wolves and woolen clothing could be make. Simeon was also a blacksmith. As more people moved into the area, a two-story hewed-log house was built to use as an accomodation for travelers and a black-smith shop was built and furnished with the tools and stock Simeon had brought with him. The Revolutionary and Indian Wars had propogated a spirit of hostility between the whites and Indians that seemed to know no bounds The Cuyahoga River, Portage Path and Tuscarawas branch of the Muskigum were originally the boundary between the Six Nations and the Western Indians. The Onondagas, Oneidas, Mohawks, and others resided East of the Cuyahoga until the difficulty in 1806. There was an Indian Trail that ran from Fort McIntosh, at the mouth of the Big Beaver, west through Portage Co., crossing the river in Franklin at the Standing Rock, then west to Northampton in Summit Co. where there was an Indian settlement, then on to Sandusky and Detroit. This trail became the hunting ground for Capt. Samuel Brady and his Indian hunters.

In the War of 1812, these Indians joined the British, they lived within the bounds of Northampton Between them and the whites a spirit of hostility existed that needed little to show itself. This continued down to the war of 1812, when the township was for the first time free from Indian alarms.

Born in 1742. He Served as a soldier in the Revolutionary War. He Died on June 3, 1810 and Buried at Seceders Corners Cemetery, Seceeders Corners, Liberty Twp., Trumbull Co., OH 44505. One of the first things to engage the attention of the early Liberty settlers was the selection of a lot as the site for a meeting-house and graveyard. Their attention was first directed to a lot in the woods near the southeast corner of Liberty, offered by James Applegate, and now owned by his son Calvin. This was an elevated and beautiful site, and so confidently was it expected that it would be accepted that the remains of some persons were buried there, and the graves are yet to be seen. But at a meeting of the congregation at the house of Alexander McCleery, it was resolved to accept a lot offered by him, which is now occupied by the church and graveyard. The deed for this lot was not made until March 15, 1828, twentv-five years after the purchase was made, and was given by Alexander McCleery to Matthew Mitchell, James Boys, and William Geddes, trustees of the Presbyterian congregation of Liberty, belonging to the Associate Synod of North America. RANSON , AMBROSE (Clermont County) [39.0675 -84.1710]

He was born in 1765, in Virginia, and was among the reserves called out to repel the invasion of Cornwallis, and though but sixteen years old was present at the capture of Yorktown in 1781. He came to Miami Township, Clermont County, with Rev. Philip Gatch in1798 from VA, with whom for many years he was associated as one of the associate judges of the common pleas court. Originally a brick-layer and plasterer, he bought a farm near Milford, then one near Newberry, but finally came to within two miles of Batavia where he died July 12, 1843 and his burial is unknown. He was a member of the M. E. church for fifty-five years. SAR Ancestor # P-334312.

RANSOM, JOHN, (Erie County) [41.44940 -82.72610]

Born in ? He Served as a soldier in the Revolutionary War with Warren Cottle's Co. Vermont Militia. He married Priscilla Jones Mason; children: . He died in 1840 and buried in the Cholera Cemetery, Sandusky, Erie Co., OH.
In 1945, Margaret Cherry, of Monroeville, Ohio, perhaps a descendant, maybe a veterans' volunteer, submitted the application for a military headstone (see photo) for this mysterious John Ransom. His very old military service took place in the years after the start of the American Revolution, in Woodstock, Vermont. From 1780-1781, he answered an alarm when called, much like a National Guard would do today. Soon after, in 1780-1781, a pension number was assigned, which could be given for serious disability, not just age. An old book published in 1909, written by in-laws, covered a family of Ransoms that moved sufficiently early to Woodstock, Vermont. Richard Ransom's family and Joseph Sterling's family moved together, both from old Lyme(in New London County, Conn.). They had already arranged to buy land in what later became South Woodstock, Windsor County, Vermont. The deed paperwork was apparently done before or by 1781 (from p. 334 of The Sterling Genealogy). Perhaps this John Ransom and other Ransoms arrived a bit earlier to do the alarms in 1780, were the reason for moving to that place and not some other?
One hundred and twenty years later, the Sterlings remembered specifically that Richard had brought along his mother, presumedly their blood relative, and that his father had been Matthew Ransom. They listed Richard's eleven children with their birth dates and spouses, including Richard's son, John Ransom, born July 26, 1770. That son John would have been only 10 at the time of the alarm, too young to man an alarm in 1780. The John Ransom needing a headstone had to have been older, a brother or cousin to Richard Ransom, for example, or possibly an uncle or father who came up to Vermont separately, so was not mentioned with Richard's mother.

RANSOM, ROBERT, (Erie County) [41.44940 -82.72610]

Born ? He Served as a Pvt in the Revolutionary War with Connecticut, discharged in 1780. He married Kaziah Portiss; children: . He died in ? and buried in the Cholera Cemetery, Sandusky, Erie Co., OH. There were two Ransoms, barely findable in Erie County history, with the right mix of mystery. Another sailing man, called Joseph Ransom, the father of the above Russell Ransom was, like John Ransom, active in the Revolutionary War era. (He instead fought near Saratoga, NY, at the Battle of the Burgoyne.) One story told is as follows,
"This honored patriot, when venerable in years, came to Erie County, Ohio, to visit his son Russell, and on his return to his home he embarked on a lake vessel at Huron; from that time, no trace of him was every found..."
"...his fate is but a matter of conjecture today, as it was to his anxious family at that time." (page 1774, History of the Western Reserve, Volume 3, 1910, by Harriet Taylor Upton, assisted by Harry Gardner Cutler.)
The last old source (p. 1775) also talked about these Ransoms' Connecticut origins, borrowing material from a Wyllis Ransom. The first to bring his family to America was Robert Ransom, beginning in Plymouth, Massachusetts, "prior to 1654". He thus went to the area populated by Pilgrims, down by Rhode Island and Connecticut, south of the less religiously radical Puritans who were instead closer to Boston. He and his family perhaps arrived a tad later than both sets. (To use some of the jargon of the era, the Pilgrims were "separatists", while the Puritans were merely "nonconformists". The area had lots of shipping activity, so there were reasons for less religious people to be there, too, many called "adventurers", there to follow varied business ventures.)
The source said his children included "Mathew". Matthew fathered a Joseph, apparently born in Conn., according to other sources, so they had moved there before his birth. (Beware; there may be a generation missing?) That Joseph fathered the Revolutionary War Joseph, the one who was lost on ship, after leaving the port at Huron (now Erie County. RECTOR, CHARLES (Miami County, IN) []

Born on March 26, 1761 in Fauquier County, Virginia. He was drafted into the service of the United States by Capt. Tapley in Hampshire co., Va. in the spring of 1781, as a private; and within the space of twenty days was delivered to Capt. Teverbaugh and was mustered into service at Fort Pleasant on the South Branch of the Potomac. Shortly thereafter he was sent to Col. Cresap who resided in the County of Hampshire, state of Va. near Old Town near the mouth of the south branch of the Potomac, "at which place he remained and from that time acted as orderly sergeant under the said Col. Cresap until the final close of the war, but he does not know whether or not he was really an officer or merely a private acting in the capacity of orderly Sergeant for said Col. Cresap. He said he was in no bat- tles and marched through no counties except those he had named, but he re- mained in the service, a period of more than two years." (Note: The D.A.R. Patriot Index credits him with service as Orderly Sergeant from Virginia), His duties as orderly sergeant were to carry orders by night and by day to twenty-two or twenty-three Captains from Col. Michael Cresap. He married 1) Sarah Chapman, 2) Mrs Catherine Haynes Marshall; Children: Nancy, Margaret, Samuel, William, Fanny, Conway, Sarah, Benjamin, Winnifred, Elizabeth, Charlotte, Benj, Ross, Elias and Caroline. After the war he lived near Pittsburgh, Penna. for a time and from there migrated to Mason County, Kentucky; and from there to Champaign County, Ohio (now Clark). His last move was to Miami County, Indiana.
Appended to his widow's application for a pension is the following af- fidavit: Charles Rector and Catherine Marshall was married by the Rev. William Sutton on May 20th 1824. Charles Rector, son of Daniel Rector departed this life January 1st in the year of our Lord 1852 aged 91 years, 9 months and 27 days.
Land Entries in the name of Charles Rector as recorded in the books of the Land Office (now the Bureau of Land Management) are as follows: (1) Part of Section 5 west of Mad River Town 4 Range 10, entered 1804 Dec 3180 A. at $2 per A. But a correction showed there was a surplus of 72 A., making a total of 152 A. (2) In S 11 Town 4 Range 10, 640 A. at $2 per A. Date: 1804 Aug 16 (3) East half of Section 12 Town 4 Range 10, 329 A. Date: 1804 12/31. This would make a total of 1121 A. entered as early as 1804 in Clark and Cham- paign Counties. References: Pension Record No. R 8637; D.A.R. REED, JAMES, JR., (Mahoning Co.) [41.02428 -80.75363]

Born in 1764 to father James Reed (1736-1806). He served as a Pvt with PA in the Revolutionary War 5th Co. 6th Troop Dragoons, 9th Regt. Militia. He married Elizabeth Peacock or Calloway (1762-1860); children: Mary, Rachel, Jemima, James, Eleanor, John, Anna, Rosanna, Hiram & Joshua.
History of Trumbull and Mahoning County, 1882, Vol II p. 14 "James Reed settled in the western part of the township in 1805, moving from Ellsworth. After his settlement his father, also named James came out and lived with him. He died here at the age of about seventy, and was the fifth person buried in the center graveyard. In the early days of Canfield there were families by the name of Reed. Phineas located on east Street, James Reed on Turner street and James Reed on west street. These families were in no way, so far as we know, related. I shall avail myself in part of what I shall say concerning Mr. Reed, to information obtained from his daughter Rachel. I called upon her some days ago and had a pleasant interview. She greeted me cordially, saying she "was glad to meet one she knew something about." I have known her nearly 70 years. She makes her home with Prior Tanner, one of her grandsons and a great-grandson of Tryal Tanner, an early and prominent settler. Prior and his wife, Laura, (a daughter of 'Squire Manchester), reside on the old homestead owned by the family for nearly 100 years. Seventy-eight years ago, or in 1819, Rachel married James Turner, and now lacks but a few weeks of being 96 years old. In the days of her prime she was a tall, good sized and well proportioned woman, with every mark of intelligence, good common sense and self-reliance. As I expected, I found the old lady showing evidence that the sands of life were slowly ebbing away, and the years of her long life must soon come to a close. She sat in a rocking chair holding in her hand a stout cane, from which I inferred she was able, with its aid, to walk about the room and to her bed. She complained that within the last year or two her memory had greatly failed. It was with some difficulty she was able to recall names. Her hearing is fairly good, and she conversed with animation and connectedly. As she rehearsed some of her past history, with its hardships, trials and many scenes of sorrow, tears made their way down the furrows that many years have made in a face that once was radiant and happy. Long years ago her husband was taken away and one by one all her children have followed, to be laid by his side. A new world to her has sprung up around her in which she is a stranger. Generations have come and passed away and she still lives among us, like a shock of wheat left alone in the field by the reapers. Her life has been a long span, reaching from the beginning to very nigh the close of this century. Roster of Revolutionary War soldiers buried in Ohio. Wilbur R. Branthoover, compiler. REED, PHINEAS, (Mahoning County) [41.02428 -80.75363]

Born ? Served as a Pvt from Dutchess Co New York 6th Regt "NY Men of the Rev," p 250. He also had land bounty rights. Died ? Buried in Canfield Village Cemetery Mahoning Co., OH. His Name is among 35 listed on a plaque "Veterans Interred in Canfield City and Township Cemeteries, Mahoning County, Ohio". Came to Ohio in 1709 and located in Canfield. Mahoning Dispatch, Fri, 19 Feb 1897 - Article No. 5 by Dr. Jackson Truesdale Excerpt regarding Canfield's earliest settlers:
"We have already noted that in the fall of 1798 the surveying party of which Nathan Moore was chief surveyor returned to Connecticut. In the spring of 1799 he returned to further prosecute the work begun. With him came some of the men that formed the party the preceding summer. The spring and fall of 1799 added a large relative addition to the colony of one family, and two young men that constituted the population the preceding winter. Three families, and possibly four, came to Canfield as settlers. They were Phineas Reed, Eleazor Gilson, Joshua Hollister and probably Rapheal Hulbert, all having families, and all from Connecticut, unless, perhaps the latter, who may have come in the spring of 1800 from Pennsylvania, and if so was the first of many more that came from that state soon afterwards. Aside from these families there were a few unmarried men. According to a statement made by a Mrs. Hale, who was a daughter of Nathan Moore, the surveyor, we find the names of unmarried residents of Canfield in 1799 of "Azariah Wetmore, Joseph Pangborn, Wilder Page, Nathaniel Gridly, one by the name of Mervin or Mewin and perhaps one or two others." Some of these last named were of the surveying party of '99, headed by Nathan Moore. We are told that Judson Canfield spent part of the summer in Canfield overseeing his interests in the west. Phineas Reed settled about three-fourths of a mile east of the center, on the south side. Joshua Hollister, who came with the Gilson family, located about two miles from the center on the north side of East street, and Mr. Gilson on the same street, south side, one and a half miles from the center. Up to this time all of the settlers except Rapheal Hulbert selected East street for their homes, thereby affording an opportunity for neighborly fellowship. Among the arrivals for this year may be noticed the names who have left no trace among us as our population is now made up".

Francis Riley was born in St. Georges Parish, Maryland. He was the oldest child of John and Ruth Riley. The family originated in County Caven, Ireland. They migrated to Western Pennsylvania where Francis served in the Washington County Militia. By 1791 they had crossed the Ohio River and were living in what is today Wells Township, Jefferson County, Ohio. Originally the stream was called Riley's Run but is today called Riddles Run.
This time prior to the War of 1812 settlement of now counties to the west of the Ohio River had increased rather rapidly. Indian raids on the settlers had increased sharply, too. A group of men from Fort Henry were hunting in what is now Harrison County. James Boggs was killed when Indians attack their night camp sight on 28 January 1791, shortly before the Riley Massacre. Abigail, William Thomas and Claudia (Ruth's daughter with John Schemmerhorn were killed; Ruth was captured Moses and young John Riley escaped with the parents. Several accounts of the massacre have been written. The date is often given in 1784 with both Hannah and Francis being killed. Many pieces of factual information prove the early date and their massacre deaths incorrect. They are buried on this farm south of Brilliant, OH about 4 miles west of Mingo Junction, OH. Francis' death in 1798 at the age of 55 years and Hanah much later in 1839; buried at Riley farm on Riddle's Run south of Brilliant, Ohio, about four miles west of Mingo Junction, Ohio. ROBBINS, JASON, (Cuyahoga Co.) [41.4056 -81.4847]

Born in 1762 Pittsfield, Mass. He served as a Pvt Mass Militia, Capt Wm Ford's Company, Col John Brown's Regt of Berkshire Co, 1777-1780. In August of 1820 two families "well supplied with teams, household furniture, and especially children, might have been seen making their tedious way on rough roads from Newburgh through Independence to Hudson in the present County of Summit, and thence northeast to Aurora in what is now Portage County, where they made a temporary stop." Leaving their families there, the heads of these two families began a thorough examination of the surrounding territory, searching for desirable unoccupied land. After a long search they decided to locate on the west part of the Williams and Ellsworth tract, which comprised the southern part of township 6, range 10, and was then called Milan, but later became the civil Township of Solon. These men were Cant. Jason Robbins and Samuel Bull, both originally from Wethersfield, Hartford County, Connecticut. They were both along in years, Mr. Bull was forty five and Captain Robbins fifty eight. Not too old to be pioneers, they built log cabins, did some clearing and in November of that year of 1820, moved their families into their new homes. These were the first settlers in the township, and while there were only two families, there were sixteen children in each, so that a colony of sixteen constituted the first settlers. ROBINSON, JAMES, (Union Co.) [40.15133 -83.38223]

Born September 17, 1774 York Co., Pennsylvania to parents James (1741-1815) and Sarah Dixon (1743-1818) Robinson. He served in the Revolutionary War. James Robinson was one of the early settlers in what became Union County. Samuel and James Robinson, the sons of James Robinson, were born and raised on their father's farm of several hundred acres, in York County, Penn., a few miles distant from the Susquehanna. James had acquired the cooper trade, and Samuel was equally proficient as a carpenter. They possessed the pioneer element strongly, in their natures, and when young men came West to seek their fortunes. They reached Tennessee, and there met Lucas Sullivant, a surveyor, who wished them to join his surveying party. With a view to selecting a good location for their future homes, they entered his employ--James as a chain carrier and Samuel as a marker--and came to Ohio. The party consisted of five men, the sole business of one of them being to provide the company with game. For six weeks they were busily at work, and during the time they saw no white men. The Robinson boys selected the Samuel Robinson survey of 600 acres, No. 2,977, located in the southeastern part of Darby, and early in the spring of 1800, cleared a small piece of land and planted it in corn. During their stay, they boarded with Joshua Ewing. In the spring of 1805, James and his family, Samuel and another brother, Thomas, again bade adieu to Pennsylvania and started on their pioneer journey to Darby Township. Samuel and James had divided between them the survey they had purchased, James taking the northwestern half. He sold this to two brothers, Thomas and John and, and purchased from Lucas Sulivant 330 acres adjoining it on the northwest, the fractions of Surveys 3,482, 3,682 and 3,881. Upon his arrival, James built a cabin on this new land. He had been a man of unusual activity and energy, and was an earnest member of the Presbyterian Church. He married Jane Morrison; children: (a family of eight children survived him) Anna, Sarah, William, Eleanor, James, Jane, Samuel & Nancy. He died on September 20, 1823 and Buried at Mitchell Cemetery, Darby Township, Union Co., OH. GM Robinson family. Ref : Ethel Robinson Helser, Unionville, OH. Fur infor Hannah Emerson Dustin Chap.

ROBINSON, WILLIAM, MAJ., (Coshocton County) [40.18080 -81.90080]

Born on April 18, 1743, Clarksburg, Virginia to parents James William (1704-1778) and Mary McKinney (1712-1781) Robinson. He Served as Adjutant of 5th and 9th VA Regt under Col O Towles. As a merchant, provider of material assistance to the Patriot troops during the American Revolution. First merchant west of the Allegheny Mountains and the first to introduce the sale of coffee in that section of Virginia. He Married Margaret See; children: James. During Lord Dunmore's War, which began with the murder of Chief Logan's family, and which ended Nov 1774, the colonists of Virginia fought against Indians backed by the British, and Maj. Robinson experienced a unique and historic adventure. 1774: William and his family had been living in a fort for protection from Indian attacks. With the other men, William served in the fort militia unit. He may have earned the commission as major through training provided by his father who served in the Virginia Militia. One day, William and two friends were working with the flax crop outside the fort's walls. Captain John Logan, Chief of the Mingo Native American nation, and his warriors attacked them as they worked in the flax field near his home by the Monongahela River. The major was forced to run the gauntlet, then tied up three times to be burned at the stake but was removed each time as debate raged on about his merit. He was verbally defended by the Chief himself against a group of hostile chiefs. He was spared when Chief Logan, who had been leading a war of vengeance against the settlers, adopted him. While with the Indians, Maj. Robinson traveled through the beautiful Muskingum River valley of Ohio. On one occasion, he recorded a letter for the Chief to the man he thought, in error, had killed his family. The message was left in the cabin of a pioneer family Logan killed. The message has been compared often to the famous speech Chief Logan delivered at the end of Dunmore's War. After about four months with Logan, Maj. Robinson escaped to return to his family in Clarksburg, Virginia (now West Virginia). It is interesting to note that his wife, Margaret See, had been a hostage of the Shawnee Indians after her first husband, father, and many others were killed in the Muddy Creek Massacre of July 16, 1763. In its aftermath, Margaret's mother and siblings were among the captives made to travel to the village of Chief Cornstalk and kept there until a hostage exchange was arranged. When William and Margaret moved to Ohio, Margaret's mother was with them, and a large group of family and friends accompanied or followed them. This included some of their married children with their spouses, children, and in-laws. Some of these pioneers are buried in the cemetery beside William, while others are interred in Bethany ME Cemetery, Robinson Cemetery, and possibly other locations. Prior to the move to Ohio, William had also served as Mayor of Clarksburg and as the third Sheriff of Harris County, VA (WV).

He Died on October 18, 1815 and Buried at William Robinson Family Cemetery, Conesville, Franklin Twp., Coshocton Co., OH. Was granted a tract of land by President for his services. Returned to Va. Ref: Co History. Natl No. 62188, Vol 63, D. A. R. Lin. Fur infor Coshocton Chap.

ROLL, ABRAHAM (Hamilton County) [39.2806626 -84.4855372]

Born in Morris County,New Jersey on August 11, 1759. He was a Private in Captain Peter Layton's Company, Colonel Sylvanus Seely's Battalion Morris County, New Jersey Militia. He married Prudence Vance in 1783. In 1805 he moved to a farm in Burlington, Springfield Township, Hamilton County, Ohio. Their children were Samuel Vance, Sarah, Wickham, Elizabeth, Rachel, John, Isaac and Martha. He was one of the founders of Christian New Light Church, Mt. Healthy, Hamilton County. He died before December 12, 1827 and buried in Springfield Presbyterian Cemetery (old St. Mary's Presbyterian) at NW corner of Springfield Pike and Cameron Rd. Hamilton County, OH.

Note: In Butler County, Ohio, Mathias Roll and in Hamilton County, Ohio, Abraham Roll each stated they were raised from boyhood in the same neighborhood of Morris County, New Jersey, with John Boltenhouse. Both Mathias and Abraham Roll knew that John served in the Revolutionary War on the Continental Establishment two years after his enlistment because they were in the service at this time. They lost track of him when his regiment was sent southward but both were certain that he did not return to his native state until after the conclusion of peace in 1783.

Originally thought to have been buried in Roll Cemetery, then thought to have been reburied in Wesleyan Cemetery at Colerain Ave. at Hoffner St with other Roll's. His name was placed on a 20" X 30" Granite memorial stone next to the GAR monument at Wesleyan Cemetery, 4100 Colerain Avenue, Cincinnati, Ohio 45223-2684. Roll's were buried there in 1903, but apparently not Abraham who was found in 2017 to have been buried at Old St. Mary's Cemetery in Springdale, OH. Although no stone has been found there with his name on it, his burial is listed on their records.

Cemetery Notes: Established in 1805, the Old Colony Burying Ground on South Main Street in Granville contains over one thousand burials. Most of the tombstones were in decent shape when we visited, but some were weathered or broken. A sign in the cemetery stated that the cemetery was being restored. There are veterans from the Revolutionary War, the War of 1812, and the Civil War buried in the cemetery. Although the first recorded burials occurred in 1806, the oldest tombstone we could find dated to 1813. We came across a couple of recognizable names in the cemetery. Timothy Rose was the first Deacon in the church and a main player in establishing Granville. There was a flag on his grave indicating he was a veteran, but we are unsure in which war he served. Rose died on November 27, 1813, at 51 years of age. GM by Granville Chap in 1901. Was agent to this Co for the

ROSS, ALEXANDER (Warren County) [39.48950 -84.31778]

(1754-1809) Served in the Philadelphia Militia. "My mother Mary Ross Apgar and her sister Janet Ross Johnson did extensive research on the Ross family. Alexander Ross is our stopping point on that side of the family. What we are lacking for him is his place of birth (country of Origin), his parents, immigration date to the US. We know he traveled to Brownsville (Redstone) in Pa, then moved with his in-laws to Franklin in Warren County . He served in the Rev War, at Battle of Brandywine, Paoli (captured), and Whiskey Rebellion. My mother, Mary Ross Apgar visited the Warren County Courthouse and examined their records in person. It was from there that she discovered Alexander Ross (1755-1809) and his wife, Nancy Ann Ross, were buried in Dicks Creek Cemetery. There is no gravestone, as it may have been destroyed or removed over the years. We also have references from the Kidner family (an in law from one of Alexander's children) that he was buried there." ROSS, TAFF (Tuscarawas County [40.639586 -81.455061]

Birth date and place are unknown. He served as a Private in the 13th Virginia Regiment Who was listed as killed at Fort Laurens 7 November 1778 in general reports following the day of death. He may have been killed on November 6, 1778. He was not buried in the mass grave, but rather in one of the other graves at the fort. He was in Capt. Robert Beall's Company of the 13th Virginia commanded by Col. John Gibson. The Americans completed the construction of Fort Laurens—named after Henry Laurens, president of the Continental Congress—in early December 1778 under the command of General Lachlan McIntosh. The fort, built on the west bank of the Tuscarawas River was to serve three purposes. First, the Americans hoped to use Fort Laurens as a base to attack the British garrison located at Detroit. Second, it would hopefully deter American Indians loyal to the British from conducting raids against American settlers in eastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania. And finally, by offering protection to the neutral Christian Delaware's, the Americans might convince them to for sake their neutrality and join the patriots' cause.

In total, 21 soldiers lost their lives at Fort Laurens after a handful of British soldiers and a couple hundred Wyandot, Mingo, Munsee, and Delaware warriors laid siege to the fort before it was abandoned in 1779. Later, part of the fort was demolished during the building of the Ohio and Erie Canal. Currently none of the original fort remains above ground, but the outline of the fort is visible. ROUSH, GEORGE (Meigs County) [38.96606 -81.91290]

Born on July ,1761 in Shenandoah Co., VA to Parents John Adam (1711-1786) & (Johannes Rausch) and Susannah Sehler (1713-1796) Roush. He served with VA in the Revolutionary War and was at Yorktown, Enlisting in fall of 1779 as Private in Captain John Roush's Company raised for Shenandoah County, (VA) militia; also served as Private in Captain Pugh's co. and enlisted again in 1781 for another tour of several months He married 1) Catherine Zirkle (1763-_), 2) Catherine Wolfe (1771-1845) in 1815; children: Michael b. 1783, Magdalena, John, Daniel b. 1787, Lewis, Catherine, Samuel b. 1795, Susannah, Jacob, Mary b. 1801 & Jonas b. 1803. George seems always to have been most closely associated with his older brother, John. John was his Captain during the Revolutionary War. When the Roush brothers took a large tract of land in Mason County, Ohio, George came first with his brother, Captain John, in whose name the purchase was made. He must have preceded his family on his first trip to the Ohio Valley as records show him to have come here in 1798, and birth and baptismal records show that his son Jacob was born and baptized in Shenandoah County, 1799. In 1807 he moved to Sutton Township, Meigs County, Ohio, where he purchased a tract of land from Edward W Tupper. It was that level tract that is now just west of the little town of Dorcas near Racine, known as the DeWolf farm. On this tract of land he lived until his death. Born on May 8, 1758 in Cumberland, York Co., Pennsylvania. He served as a Pvt with PA in the Revolutionary War. He married Margaret Goetz; children: Catherine, Jacob, Elizabeth, Benjamin, Mary & Adam. He Died on April 22, 1840 and Buried at Unity Brick Church Cemetery, Plot Old Section, 1993 Waterford Road, East Palestine, Columbiana Co., OH 44413. Adam Rupert as told, came to Columbiana Ohio with three other brothers, Martin, John, and Michael. They were born in Pensylvania, possibly York County. He built log cabin shown presently located on Metz Road. 1870 Map Unity Range 1 Twp 8 Section 17 shows Rupert property owned by Rebecca Snook Rupert (widow of son Jacob)and J. Rupert (son) possibly living in log home on 33 1/2 acres. Some notes from Don Rupert (1913-2009): Recent newspaper clipping in Columbiana paper about Ruperts, Rummells and Woods states they all helped pioneer Columbiana County. The article mentions that Adam Rupert came to America with his three older brothers in 1764. He served in the Revolutionary war and moved to Unity Township in 1800 at the age of 44. The article states Rupert was the first to go to the office in Steubenville for land in Unity Township. He bought two iron stoves which heated the home he built, a two story log cabin with a loft, entireley. There was no fireplace in the home that still stands on Metz Road. He married Elizabeth Goetz. Rupert is buried behind the Unity Brick Church, where his decendents errected a monument to him in the 1920's. According to church records, the first meeting of that church were actually held in Rupert's home in 1802. Rupert and his son Jacob, were both important in the church's history. See more information from article under Son Jacob and son Benjamin. Adam Rupert bought sec 17 in Unity twp in 1800. He built his house and barn on ground adjacent to and elevated above a flood plain which has become a swamp since Beaver Lake was built in the 1981-20 period. Very likely it was not forested when Adam bought and was a great benefit to him as a source of good pasture and hay for his livestock. Three springs watered the area. From this flood plain water flows north in to the Mahoning River drainage system and south into the Little Beaver Run system. Soil types in area include much Wooster soil which is considered the best in the area. Wooster soil was heavily forested with massive big oak, poplar , ash and chestnut, some hickory, walnut and on thinner soils beech and sugar maple. Adam was one of the founding fathers of the Reformed church known variously as the Forney Church. (Henry Forney supplied the land. The Reformed Church, Salem Church, Unity Brick Church and perhaps more. It was located a little over 1 mile east of Adams home on sec. 10 of Unity twp. The original log church was replaced with a substantial brick church in 1828-29 and that one in 1875 which, with additions still stands.. Both a Luthern and a Reformed congregation share the church unit about 1840. End DR notes.

RUSSELL, JACOB, (Cuyahoga County) [41.46560 -81.56560]

Born in 1746. He served as a Pvt, 8th Co Continental Regt, Connecticut. He married Ester Dunham; children: Elijah, Ester, Jerusha, Return, Elisha, Samuel, Content, Roxanna, Obedience, Rodney & Ralph. He Died in 1821 and Buried at Shaker Heights Cemetery moved to the Warrensville West Cemetery, Lee Road, Shaker Heights, Cuyahoga Co., OH. GM Western Reserve Chap.
On the north side of South Park Boulevard, just east of Lee Road, there is a solitary grave the final resting place of an American Revolutionary War soldier Jacob Russell. Next to the grave is a large stone with a bronze plaque commemorating Russell's life. The plaque, placed there in 1926 by the Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR), is the oldest historic marker in Shaker Heights, Ohio.
Jacob Russell was born in Connecticut in 1746. In May 1775, just weeks after the battles of Lexington and Concord, twenty-nine year old Jacob, who was married and had two young children at the time, enlisted in the 8th Company of the Connecticut Continentals. He served in this unit for five months and was discharged in October 1775. Little else is known of his Revolutionary War military service.
But the story of Jacob Russell did not end when his military service came to an end. Sometime around 1800, Jacob, his wife Esther, and their by then ten children moved west from Windsor, Connecticut to Jefferson County, New York, located on the eastern shores of Lake Ontario. A little over a decade later, the family moved west again, settling in northeast Ohio in 1813. It was a dangerous trek in that year, as the United States was at war with Great Britain, and northeast Ohio was in the middle of the war's western front.
The Russell family survived the War of 1812, and were among the earliest permanent settlers of Warrensville Township. Among their neighbors was Daniel Warren for whom the township was later named. The 1820 federal census found the Russell family living in Warrensville Township, constituting 26 of the 133 persons counted in the census--almost 20 percent of the township population.

In 1821, at age 75, Jacob Russell died. It was said that his son Ralph was so distraught over the death of his father that he turned to religion for solace and became a member of the United Society of Believers in Christ's Second Appearance, better known as the Shakers. Following his conversion, Ralph Russell founded the Shaker North Union Colony on Russell family farmlands in what is now the City of Shaker Heights.
The youngest son of Jacob Russell was Rodney, who was born in Windsor, Connecticut, May 15, 1796. In 1870 he was the only surviving male member of the Russell family at North Union. He was a single man, and owned a farm a little distance south from the settlement, which he exchanged for land lying north and adjoining land owned by the community. He entered the society with his four brothers and consecrated his property, his time and talents and all he possessed to build up and support his religious faith. To that cause he devoted a long and useful life and blessed many an orphan and poor widow, who had been brought into the community and permitted to partake of the fruits of his labor. By occupation he was a farmer and shoemaker. He died at North Union, September 3, 1880, aged 84 years, 3 months and 7 days. He is buried here according to "Shakers of Ohio: Fugitive Papers Concerning The Shakers of Ohio, With Unpublished Manuscripts," Written by J. P. MacLean, Ph.D. Published by the F. J. Born in 1762. Robert Rutherford served for a period of eighteen months as a Private in Col. Buford's Regiment in the Virginia line. He Married _____ (1758-_); children: ?
He applied for a pension July 2, 1818, before Asst. Judge Alexander McBeth of Urbana Township, Champaign Co., Ohio. He stated he was in reduced circumstances, and that he did faithfully serve as a private soldier 18 months. He enlisted in Shenandoah Co.,

Va., in October, 1780, and marched under the command of Capt. Andrew Wallace through North and South Carolina, attached to the 8th Regt. commanded by Col. Buford in the Va. line. He served in this company until Capt. Wallace was killed in the Battle of Gilford in N. Carolina. He was then ordered by Major Mazard to drive a baggage wagon, and remained in this service driving said team until the end of the War. Shortly before the expiration of the War he was ordered by Major Mazard to drive the baggage belonging to the Major to Mazard's residence in Leaas Town in the State of Va., then granted a short furlough to go home, but before his furlough was over, the War ended. He did not return to receive his discharge, that he gave his furlough to one Zaca De- lena in order to recover pay for his services. He stated he is a resident of German Twp., Clark County, Ohio, and is 56 years of age and from his present indigent circumstances in life needs the attendance of his country for support. The pension was granted 1819 and discontinued in 1822. A schedule of all his property, personal and real together with all incomes to be inscribed on the pension list roll of the Ohio Agency on April 23, 1819, was as follows: No land, 3 head of horses, 5 cows, 4 yearlings, 5 two year old cattle, 30 head of hogs, 150 bushels of salt. Debts were $96.00 to Christian Keezer, $70.00 to M. Bostick, $45.00 to L. Short, and $4.00 to F. Buhring. In 1825 the pension was restored at which time he was 63 years old, his wife 67 years and living in Cabell Co., Va. He died after 1825 and burial is unknown in Clark County, OH. Skene's parents died when he was young, he was sent to live with a Mr. Bull, who married one of his mother's sisters. He enlisted January 23, 1780 from North Milford, Connecticut. He dropped his last name because of his age. The traditional explanation of the dropping of his surname when he enlisted is that he hoped by so doing to prevent his uncle discovering his whereabouts and securing his discharge on account of his being under the prescribed age, the inference being that his uncle was a Tory.

SEBRING, FULKARD, (Delaware County) [40.1508963 -82.8662893]

Born in 1745 in New Brunswick, NJ to parents Johannes (John) Seabring (1702-73) and Petronella Auten. Served as a Pvt in Bucks Co, Pa Mil. He married Sophia Leesman; children: Obadiah b. 1778, John b. 1769, Francis b. 1787 and Josiah b. 1792. Fulkard Sebring and his descendants lived, generation after generation, along the banks of Big Walnut Creek (also called the Gehenna or Big Belly) near the boundary line between Delaware and Franklin Counties, on land that is now under water. In the 1950's Hoover Dam was constructed astride the Big Walnut to form Hoover Reservoir, the water supply for Columbus. Not only did pioneers need the water; they were absolutely dependent upon the vegetation and game it sustained. Fishing and hunting was more than recreation to the pioneers, it was necessary for survival. The creek provided water power for sawmills and gristmills. The stream received its name from the fact its banks and bottoms were covered with a dense growth of black walnut trees, which have long since disappeared .... Thousands of rails have been split, and dugout canoes were made from logs. The doors, floors, and often even walls of the cabins were made from this wood. In the early settlement, the waters were alive with fish and game of every description was found it the dense forest that lined its banks. He died 1822 in Genoa Township, Delaware County, and was buried in an unmarked grave in Red Bank Cemetery. Nearly every grave in the cemetery traces their lineage to Fulkard. Years later, his remains were accidently uncovered while a grave was being dug for his grandson, George Washington Sebring who lived 1819 to 1908. Fulkard's remains were attired in his soldier's uniform. The grave was later marked by the Delaware County Chapter D.A.R. with a bronze plaque. SHORES, GREENSBURY (Tuscarawas County) [40.639586 -81.455061]

Birth site and Date is unknown He served as a Private in the 13th Virginia Regiment in Colonel Campbell's Company commanded by Colonel John Gibson for at least October to February 1779 in OH. He died on February 23, 1779 with a group who were ambushed while gathering firewood at Fort Laurens and killed by Indians under the command of the British. The Americans completed the construction of Fort Laurens—named after Henry Laurens, president of the Continental Congress—in early December 1778 under the command of General Lachlan McIntosh. The fort, built on the west bank of the Tuscarawas River was to serve three purposes. First, the Americans hoped to use Fort Laurens as a base to attack the British garrison located at Detroit. Second, it would hopefully deter American Indians loyal to the British from conducting raids against American settlers in eastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania. And finally, by offering protection to the neutral Christian Delaware's, the Americans might convince them to forsake their neutrality and join the patriots' cause.
In total, 21 soldiers lost their lives at Fort Laurens after a handful of British soldiers and a couple hundred Wyandot, Mingo, Munsee, and Delaware warriors laid siege to the fort before it was abandoned in 1779. Later, part of the fort was demolished during the building of the Ohio and Erie Canal. Currently none of the original fort remains above ground, but the outline of the fort is visible.

(1883): From the best sources of information we have been able to obtain, it appears that the first pioneer of Paint Township was Andrew Sifrit, who was born near Winchester, Va., in 1750. When but a young man, at the first call for troops in the commencement of the war of the Revolution, he enlisted as a private soldier, and served for eight long years. For these services he subsequently obtained a warrant for 200 acres of land. He was married to Susan Shrock by whom he had nine children. Mrs. Sifrit died and he married for his second wife Miss Hannah Morrills, a native of Virginia, by whom he had twelve children. Thus he was the father of twenty-one children. In 1803, he, with his family, emigrated to Ross County, Ohio, where they remained one year, and in 1804 came to Madison County, settling in Paint Township, on land now owned by John Paulin on what is called Sifrit Run.Ref: Grace Sifrit Thompson, London, OH. SIMMONS, PETER (Tuscarawas County) [40.639586 -81.455061]

Birth site and Date is unknown He served as a Private in the 13th Virginia Regiment in Colonel Campbell's Company commanded by Colonel John Gibson for at least October to February 1779 in OH. He died on February 23, 1779 with a group who were ambushed while gathering firewood at Fort Laurens and killed by Indians under the command of the British. The Americans completed the construction of Fort Laurens—named after Henry Laurens, president of the Continental Congress—in early December 1778 under the command of General Lachlan McIntosh. The fort, built on the west bank of the Tuscarawas River was to serve three purposes. First, the Americans hoped to use Fort Laurens as a base to attack the British garrison located at Detroit. Second, it would hopefully deter American Indians loyal to the British from conducting raids against American settlers in eastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania. And finally, by offering protection to the neutral Christian Delaware's, the Americans might convince them to forsake their neutrality and join the patriots' cause.
In total, 21 soldiers lost their lives at Fort Laurens after a handful of British soldiers and a couple hundred Wyandot, Mingo, Munsee, and Delaware warriors laid siege to the fort before it was abandoned in 1779. Later, part of the fort was demolished during the building of the Ohio and Erie Canal. Currently none of the original fort remains above ground, but the outline of the fort is visible.

SIMMONS, WILLIAM (Tuscarawas County) [40.639586 -81.455061]

Birth site and Date is unknown He served as a Private in the 13th Virginia Regiment in Colonel Campbell's Company commanded by Colonel John Gibson for at least October to February 1779 in OH. He died on February 23, 1779 with a group who were ambushed while gathering firewood at Fort Laurens and killed by Indians under the command of the British. The Americans completed the construction of Fort Laurens—named after Henry Laurens, president of the Continental Congress—in early December 1778 under the command of General Lachlan McIntosh. The fort, built on the west bank of the Tuscarawas River was to serve three purposes. First, the Americans hoped to use Fort Laurens as a base to attack the British garrison located at Detroit. Second, it would hopefully deter American Indians loyal to the British from conducting raids against American settlers in eastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania. And finally, by offering protection to the neutral Christian Delaware's, the Americans might convince them to forsake their neutrality and join the patriots' cause.

In total, 21 soldiers lost their lives at Fort Laurens after a handful of British soldiers and a couple hundred Wyandot, Mingo, Munsee, and Delaware warriors laid siege to the fort before it was abandoned in 1779. Later, part of the fort was demolished during the building of the Ohio and Erie Canal. Currently none of the original fort remains above ground, but the outline of the fort is visible.

SKINNER, ABRAHAM, (Lake Co.) [41.72890 -81.23360]

Born on October 18, 1755, Glastonbury, Connecticut to Parents: Abraham Skinner and Phoebe Strong. He served from Windsor, Conn, for the relief of Boston in the Lexington Alarm, and was in the 4th Regt, Conn Line. He Married Mary Ayres in 1788; children: Mary, Paulina, Roderick and Augustus. He Died on January 14, 1826 and was originally Buried in the Old Washington Street Cemetery in Painesville; his remains and headstone were later moved to Evergreen Cemetery, Painesville, Lake Co., OH. From: "A Record Of The Revolutionary Soldiers Buried In Lake County, Ohio" (Published by the DAR, 1902): Capt. Abraham Skinner, descended, as family tradition relates, from an old English family, was born in Glastonbury, Conn., in the year 1755. About the time of the accession of Charles the Second to the British throne, the family emigrated to America, feeling, in consequence of their having espoused the cause of Cromwell, and held office under him, that a more congenial home might be found in this country. In the possession of this branch of the family, at the beginning of the past century, was a sword, which had been used by an ancestor in his service as an officer under Cromwell. This same sword again did valiant service at the time of the Salem Witchcraft Craze, for the descendants of this branch of the Skinners boast, that it was one of their ancestors, who dared to lead a squad of determined men to rescue from the gallows a poor woman, condemned to death as a witch. Of the early life of Abraham Skinner, we know but little. In the War of the Revolution, his military record shows that he served from the town of East Windsor, among the men who marched from the Connecticut towns, for the relief of Boston in the Lexington Alarm of April 1775, in Capt. Amasa Loomis' Company. Again, enlisted April 24, 1778, in Capt. Harrison's company, served eight months, and was Commissary of Prisoners, in the Fourth Regiment, Connecticut Line, Col. John Durke, commanding. He came to Painesville with Edward Paine in 1798 and settled at "Skinner's Landing." Capt. Skinner returned to Conn., remaining in East Hartford until 1803, when he again visited his Ohio lands in company with the family of Col. Paine. They brought with them horses and cattle. farming implements and young fruit trees. They contracted for the clearing of lands, and built log cabins to shelter the Paine family, and one to he ready for the Skinner family when they would come. It is said of him, that being a man of large means, and his farm always well stocked, he was thus enabled to be a source of some help to the poorer settlers, that "polite to every body and generous to the needy and suffering everywhere, Capt. Skinner occupied a prominent place among the people of his day." He was bur with Masonic honors. Fur infor New Connecticut Chap. SAR Ancestor # P-290732. Has an obelisk tombstone.

Born in 1752 to parents David (1729-1791) and Ann Huff (1723-1801) Slayback. He served as a Soldier with the New Jersey, Middlesex County Militia. Solomon lived in Windsor Township, Middlesex Co., NJ. He married Sarah Hoagland (1756-1828); children: Abel and Solomon. Solomon died on April 28, 1814 and buried at St. Mary's Cemetery, Plot C309, Springfield Pike and Cameron Road, Springdale, Springdale Township, Hamilton Co., OH 45246. Cemetery notes and/or description: The Springdale Presbyterian Church acquired 2 ½ acres in 1801 at the current intersection of Route 4 and Cameron Rd. The purpose of the purchase was to construct a church and cemetery. In 1833, although the church moved to a different location, the cemetery remained at this location. In 1987, the Springdale Presbyterian Church transferred the ownership of the property to the City of Springdale. The cemetery had fallen into disrepair and neglect, since the church did not have the funds to properly maintain it. The city began a long restoration process, often bringing in Scouts to help clean and restore the site. The Public Works Department employees repaired and reset many stones. Although the cemetery is small in comparison it is the final resting place for (9) Revolutionary War veterans, (12) Civil War veterans, and (1) World War I veteran. Ref. SMALL, ANDREW, (Miami Co.) [40.16530 -84.25810]

Born in Scotland or York Co. Pennsylvania on February 17, 1756. He Enlisted under Gen Richard Montgomery in the year 1774, Enlisted July 1775-1779 as a private soldier in the York County Militia, Pennsylvania Line; Enlisted as a Teamster for 6 months; In 1780 reenlisted as Ensign, Pennsylvania Line . He married Mary Long (1760-1824); Children: Mary, Daniel, Catherine, Agnes, Andrew, Susannah, James, John, Elizabeth. After the close of the war, Mr. Small and his family decided to go West, and in 1795 they packed their belongings in wagons, and the start was made for the West. When they reached Bedford Fort, which is now Pittsburgh, Pa., the horses were sold and the family embarked with their belongings, on a flat boat bound down the Ohio River. The river at the time was very low, and the men folk had to tow the boat until they were part of the way, when the river began to rise, caused by some heavy rains up the valley, and the river became such a torrent that it nearly capsized their boat and made landing very difficult; but finally they succeeded in making a landing at Columbia near Cincinnati. It was told that when the landing was made, Mr. Small called the entire group of folks together and prayer was held, using a large white log as an alter. Here it was that thanks were given unto God for his safe keeping them during their journey, and asking his continued guidance and safe keeping as they traversed this strange land. After a years rest, under the protection of Fort Washington, Mr. Small and his family started up the Great Miami river, following a surveying party that had blazed a trail along this river, using the rude cabins for the shelter of his family, that these surveyors had abandoned, until they reached Clear Creek, in Franklin Township, Warren County, where Mr. Small settled upon a section of land.

SMITH, JOHN III (Tuscarawas County) [40.639586 -81.455061]

Birth site and Date is unknown He served as a Private in the 3rd & 8TH Pennsylvania Regiments in Colonel Campbell's Company commanded by Colonel John Gibson for at least October to February 1779 in OH. He died on February 23, 1779 with a group who were ambushed while gathering firewood at Fort Laurens and killed by Indians under the command of the British. The Americans completed the construction of Fort Laurens—named after Henry Laurens, president of the Continental Congress—in early December 1778 under the command of General Lachlan McIntosh. The fort, built on the west bank of the Tuscarawas River was to serve three purposes. First, the Americans hoped to use Fort Laurens as a base to attack the British garrison located at Detroit. Second, it would hopefully deter American Indians loyal to the British from conducting raids against American settlers in eastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania. And finally, by offering protection to the neutral Christian Delaware's, the Americans might convince them to forsake their neutrality and join the patriots' cause.

In total, 21 soldiers lost their lives at Fort Laurens after a handful of British soldiers and a couple hundred Wyandot, Mingo, Munsee, and Delaware warriors laid siege to the fort before it was abandoned in 1779. Later, part of the fort was demolished during the building of the Ohio and Erie Canal. Currently none of the original fort remains above ground, but the outline of the fort is visible.

He Died on March 20, 1853. age 91 yrs., Vernon, OH and Buried at Pioneer Cemetery, Ohio SR 7, Vernon, Trumbull Co., OH 44428 south of center of Vernon. Came here from Hartland, Conn with Thos Giddings and Aaron Brockway, arriving June 18, 1798. He made a clearing, built a log cabin and in the fall went back to his family. In the spring of 1799 he returned to the Western Reserve, bringing with him his wife, Sarah Kellogg, and six children. The formal organization of Vernon township, Trumbull County as now constituted was effected in 1806. Previous to the organization the township was known - locally, at least - as Smithfield, so called in honor of Martin Smith, one of the first settlers of the township, and why it was changed to Vernon is not know known. Vernon Township, Trumbull County, Ohio: Once known as - Vernon Center, Smithfield, Corinth, Biggins Corners Originally Settled by: Aaron Brockway, General Martin Smith, Mr. Ely and families in 1798. It was written that Martin Smith converted his Revolutionary sword to an ax, and came to prepare a home for his wife Sarah and their seven children at that time.

He followed merchandising in an early day and was also by occupation a surveyor. He was grand master Mason and in early times the Masonic lodge held their meetings in his house. They were prominent members of the Presbyterian church and their home was the usual stopping place of the pioneer preacher and missionary. On June 4, 1822, the County Commissioners, Martin Smith of Vernon, and other local officials, hired Seth Thompson of Hartford to build a new brick jail building on High Street for $2,965 to be "set on the center of said lot east and west and the front of the building to be 100 feet north of the highway or Common". He was pensioned at 78 years of age.

SMITH, PETER (Clark County) [39.923598 -83.952255]

Born on February 6, 1753 in Wales. His service, believed to be on file at the Adjutant General's office, Trenton, New Jersey, identifies him on April 1, 1777 as one of the NJ Ten Eycks men at Bound Brook, a Private on May 7, 1778, Morris County, Militia in Capt. Carters Company, Col. Seeleys Eastern Battalion. He married Catherine Stout (1758-1831) on December 23, 1776 in NJ; children: Samuel b. 1778, Ira b. 1780, Sarah b. 1782, Hezekiah b. 1784, Elizabeth b. 1786, Abraham b. 1788, Nancy b. 1790, Margaret b. 1793, Cathern, twin of Margaret, b. 1793, Jacob 1797, Mary b. 1799 and Rhoda A. b. 1801. He was known also as Dr. Peter Smith, the Indian Doctor, because of his avid interest in medicine, his practice of healing with herbs and roots known to the Indians, and his booklet of prescriptions printed in 1813. He is described as a preacher, farmer, physician and abolitionist. Starting from New Jersey about the year 1780, Peter and Catherine moved to Virginia, the Carolinas, and to Georgia. "And he preached, possibly in an irregular way, the Gospel, as a devout Baptist of the Old School" to quote his grandson, J. Warren Keifer. However, he did not like Georgia "with its many scorpions and slaves" so he moved the family on horseback, twin babies among them, carried in baskets hung to the horns of the saddle ridden by his wife, through Tennessee to Kentucky. They fled Kentucky since it, too, had become a slave state, and came to Ohio. Here they settled on Duck Creek near Columbia, now within the limits of Cincinnati. In 1804 he again took to the wilderness with his family of twelve children and came finally to a farm on Donnels Creek, Clark County, Ohio. He died on December 31, 1816 in Clark County, OH and buried at Brandenburg Cemetery near Donnelsville, Clark County, Ohio. SPERRY, MARAUCHIE VAN ORDEN, (Geauga County) [41.61590 -81.25980]

Born in 1758, Netherlands. Parents: Pieter Van Orden. She was a protege of Gen and Mrs Washington; was present with Virginia at the capture of Burgoyne, and "assisted the suffering Americans on that memorable day." She Married Lieut Elijah Sperry in Apr," 177!); children: Rachel, Elam, Daniel, Peter & Lovina. She Died on May 13, 1845,_ Kirtland, OH and Buried at Center Chardon Cemetery, Plot Old Section – Lot 86, 9350 Mentor Road, Chardon, Geauga Co., OH. Cemetery notes and/or description: Location: about 3.5 miles northwest of the Village of Chardon on Mentor Road, Also known as King Memorial Highway, just past the intersection of Hermitage and Mentor Roads. The daughter of Pieter Van Orden. A wealthy family, the Van Ordens migrated to New York City during her childhood. They built a "substantial" house of brick, probably brought in the hold of the ship for ballast. Her family was driven from the city in Sept. of 1776 by Lord Howe's forces. Her father and two brothers were killed by the British and her mother died because the British had poisoned their well. Their home was destroyed and their estate was confiscated by the British. Marauchie became a protege of General and Mrs. George Washington and was present at the surrender of General John Burgoyne at Saratoga Springs, NY on 18 Oct 1777. She assisted those Continental Army soldiers wounded that day. That victory marked a turning point in the war. At some point in time, Marauchie started using the names "Polly". Perhaps because Marauchie was a difficult name to spell and pronounce. After Elijah's death, Marauchie came to Kirtland, Geauga County (now Lake County), Ohio with at least three of her surviving children: Daniel S., Lovina and Louisa. She applied at the Geauga County Court on 14 Nov 1839 for a pension based on Elijah's service in the Revolutionary War. During her appearance at the court, she stated that she "had made diligent enquiry but could not find the papers, the said Agent (in New York) having removed from the place where he then lived, and died as she is informed & believes said papers to be lost or destroyed." She also stated that she "had seen her husband's commission and also his discharge but does not know what became of either." An affidavit from Elam Sperry (Elijah's nephew) was attached. "I, Elam Sperry aged seventy eight years last May -- say that I was a nephew of Elijah Sperry deceased who was a soldier and served in the Revolutionary War, that my father was the son of the father of said Elijah by his first wife, the said Elijah a son by the second wife." He stated that they were neighbors except when Elijah served his apprenticeship as a blacksmith and when he served in the Revolution.
Alfred Phelps of Chardon, OH wrote to the Department of Pensions on 5 Aug 1840. He said "that he had been advised Feb. 27 last that "Polly's" application was filed with suspended cases. The record of service was accepted but that it would be necessary that the proof should be clear as to the marriage having been in April 1779." The town clerk of Danbury, Connecticut could find no record of the marriage. The town of Danbury had been burned and it was assumed that the record had been destroyed. The record had been in the family Bible and Elijah had copied it into a newer Bible. This Bible was in the possession of a daughter and she said that the record had been lost.

Apparently all these efforts were eventually successful as Marauchie (Polly) was "inscribed on the Roll of Pittsburgh at the rate of $115.50 per annum to coommence on the 4th day of March 1836. The amount was based on 10 months 8 days of Elijah's service as a Sergeant of Artificiers and 2 years 18 days as a Lieutenant." Marauchie (Polly) died 13 May 1845 at Kirtland, OH.
"February 12, 1853, Marauchie (Polly) Sperry was a deceased pensioner. This day it was satisfactorily approved that Marauchie (Polly) Sperry was a revolutionary Pensioner, as the widow of Elijah Sperry, deceased, that said Polly died at Kirtland in the County of Lake and State of Ohio on the 13th day of May A.D. 1845."

Many veterans buried in family cemeteries, neighborhood plots or small church burial grounds which are now extinct and or built over during the disappearance of rural areas and the increase of urban communities in Anderson Township and/or Hamilton County during the late 19th century or 20th century are now lost to our knowledge. Their families having re-located, their descendants now not knowing their homes, deeds, and/or burial locations lead to their obscurity. Daughters of the American Revolution of Ohio. STACY, WILLIAM, SR., Lt. COL., (Washington Co.) [39.41998 -81.45187]

Born on February 15, 1733, Capetown, Massachusetts to Parents: Nymphas (1699-1774) and Hanah Littlehale (1702-1761)Stacy. Made Capt of company formed at time of Lexington Alarm. Rose to rank of Lt Col. 1) 4th Massachusetts Regiment; also Captain, Colonel Ichabod Alden; also Major, Captain R. Woodbridge, 25th Regiment; 2) He was taken prisoner Nov 11, 1778 and held for 4 yrs. He Married 1)Sarah Day, Dec 9, 1750; 2) Hannah Sheffield; Children: Benjamin, Sarah, William Jr, Joseph, Elizabeth, John, Philemon, Gideon. He Died before August 31, 1802, Marietta, OH and Buried at Mound Cemetery, 5th and Scammel Streets, Marietta, OH 45750. in northwest corner. GM Marietta Chap with Revolutionary marker and on gateway, Nov 30, 1906. In early life was a sea-faring man of Salem, Massachusetts. Later moved with his family to New Salem and took up farming. The first of July,1778 the Indians and Tories sacked and destroyed the settlement of Wyoming, on the Susquehanna River. They now threatened, and had partly depopulated, the settlement of Cherry valley, which lies on the head waters of the eastern branch of that stream, fifty-two miles northwest of Albany, in the present county of Otsego, but then Tryon county, N.Y. It was a beautiful valley, noted for its fertility and picturesque scenery, being first settled as early as 1739, but greatly harassed by the Tories, who formed nearly half of the inhabitants of that county, and were friends to the crown, to which they were partly induced from the popularity and high standing of Sir Guy Johnson, who lived in the northern part of the county, and probably from respect to the governor of the state while under the king, for whom it was named. Late in the summer of 1778, Col. Alden's regiment was ordered up to Cherry valley, for the protection of the inhabitants. A stockade garrison had been previously built around their little church, and the regiment of about two hundred men took possession of it. Being rather straitened for quarters, several of the officers lodged at the houses of the adjacent inhabitants. Alden and Stacey, with a small guard of soldiers, quartered in the house of a Mr. Wells, not more than a quarter of a mile from the garrison. On the 6th of November, Col. Alden received a letter from Fort Schuyler, now in Oneida county, distant about forty miles northwest, near the head of the Mohawk, saying that an Oneida Indian, whose tribe was friendly to the United States, had told them that the Indians and Tories, under a son of Col. Butler, were assembling on the Tioga river, a northerly branch of the Susquehanna, which passes through the country of the Seneca Indians, for the purpose of attacking the fort and settlement of Cherry valley. Butler had been a prisoner with the Americans, and confined in Albany jail, a short time before, but had escaped, and was now seeking revenge. Being notified of this intended attack, he sent out scouting parties to watch their approach, although he did not actually apprehend any danger, even after this timely warning. The inhabitants, better aware of their peril, made application to the commander to be admitted within the fort, but as it was only large enough for his own men, he declined, saying it would be time enough when they were certain of the approach of the enemy. Being unacquainted with Indian warfare, he did not take shelter within the fort himself. The scout, which was sent down that branch of the river which waters the valley, having kindled a fire, were surprised in their camp and taken prisoners, so that they could not give the alarm of the advance of the Indians as he had expected. From these prisoners, Butler and Brant learned the condition of the settlement and the houses where the officers slept, being themselves familiar and acquainted in the valley before the war.

Stacy was taken prisoner where he was held for 4 years when he was exchanged and then returned to his home in New Salem. In 1789 moved his family to Ohio.
After the war he removed to Marietta, OH. After the death of his first wife, Col. Stacey married Mrs. Sheffield, a widow lady from Rhode Island, and owned four shares of land in the Ohio Company. She was the mother of the wife of Maj. Zeigler, Mr. Charles Green, and Isaac Pierce, Esq., a woman of highly cultivated mind, lady-like manners, and agreeable person. Overseer of construction of garrison at Point Marietta, OH. Foreman of first grand jury in Ohio.
Cemetery notes and/or description: The Mound Cemetery was established in 1801 by the citizens of Marietta, Ohio, to preserve an Ohio Hopewell burial mound dating from 100 BC to 500 AD, and provide for settler burials. After the Revolutionary War, the area along the Ohio River and Marietta attracted many veterans rewarded with land grants. General Rufus Putnam donated land for the cemetery. The cemetery is thought to have the largest number of Revolutionary War Officer burials, among other important Ohio River pioneer settlers and Northwest Territory politicians. Burials continue to today despite the limited space.

STARR, JOHN, (Franklin Co.) [39.94030 -83.03250]

Born on January 16, 1743, Groton, Connecticut to father Dr, Comfort Starr of Ashford, England who emigrated to Boston in 1635. Volunteered service in the fight at Ft Griswold, 1781 ; was wounded. He Married Mary Sharp; children: John & mary. He Died on August 10, 1824, Columbus, OH and buried at Greenlawn Cemetery, 1000 Greenlawn Avenue, Franklin Co., OH 43223. He went to Nova Scotia to settle, but on the opening of the war of the Revolution, espousing the cause of the colonists against the Crown of England, was compelled to flee from the Province without his family, and return to his native place; his family afterward arrived. He immediately volunteered in the service of his country, and in the terrible fight at Fort Griswold was wounded by a musket ball through the left elbow, losing the use of his arm. The Government gave him a pension for life and 1,000 acres of land in Franklin Co., Ohio, within and adjoining the present city of Columbus, to which he decided to emigrate; and in the spring of 1812, with his family, started for their future home in two large wagons; were seven weeks on the journey, arriving at their destination in June of that year. The site of the city was then a dense forest, with but a single log cabin upon it. His farm lay on the east side of the Sciota River, where a clearing was soon made, and two log cabins, of a single room each, were put up, one of which is still, or was until recently, standing (1879). They endured all the trials and hardships incident to a frontier life, and the difficulties encountered by early settlers in a new country. He was a member of the Congregational church in Groton, and of the Presbyterian church in Columbus. The committee appointed by the Connecticut Legislature to report on the condition of the suffers at Fort Griswold, describe him "as a man of good character – took up arms for our liberties – obliged to leave Nova Scotia without his family – got them since – severely wounded," etc. Of him and his son, one who knew them adds: "They were quite, honest Presbyterians, with no other ambition that to be good farmers and to raise their children in their own religious faith and practice, which they certainly did." He is buried with his wife and all their children (except Joseph) in "Green Lawn Cemetery," Columbus. His wife Mary died about five months after reaching their new home. MI: "To the memory of Daniel Stewart, who died Feb 20, 1858, aged 95 yrs, 3 mos and 2 das." GM Descendants — a marble monument. Daniel Stewart was considered by some to have been the youngest "full-time" soldier of the Revolutionary War. When he ran away from home and enlisted in the service of Connecticut (Captain Abraham Bradley's Company, Colonel Enos's Regiment) he was fifteen years old. He was discharged in January, 1778. He re-enlisted, the following spring, in the Continental Army at Nelson's Point (Colonel Meig's Regiment, General Pearson's Brigade). During this hitch, he helped build the fort at West Point, New York. He was eventually discharged for ill health. Upon regaining his health, Daniel was engaged as a "substitute" for one Nehemiah Marvin in the Company of Captain John Ensine, Colonel Herman's Regiment. He rejoined the army at West Point and was discharged in September, 1778. In the spring of 1779, he enlisted, once again, in the Company of Captain Abraham Bradley, Colonel Zebulon Butler's Second Connecticut Regiment of Foot. He was discharged in January, 1780. In 1780, he enlisted for nine months in the Continental Army and returned to General Pearson's Brigade. He was again discharged on January 15, 1781. Later that year, he enlisted in Captain Miles' "Ranger Company", Major Humphrey's Battalion. Here he served until the cessation of hostilities following the battle at Yorktown. When peace finally came, Daniel Stewart had been a soldier for five years and was not yet twenty years old.

At the close of the war he removed to Sussex Co, N. J., thence in 1802 to the Ohio country. Farming, justice of the peace, county commissioner, and was one of the early

STRONG, BARNABAS, (Hamilton Co.) Colerain Twp. [39.261 -84.632]

Br 1759, Connecticut. He enlisted February 1776 in Lt. Colonel Bedel's New Hampshire Regt. marched to Ticonderoga, New York, then to Canada and was stationed at Trois River on the south side of St. Lawrence. The detachment was taken prisoner by several hundred Indians, and he was given to a squaw whose son had been killed. Through the aid of American and British officers, he was freed and rejoined his Regt. at St. John's, which retreated to Lake Champlain. He was discharged early in the winter, on account of his sickness, and returned to his friends in Vermont. In March 1777 he enlisted again for three years under Colonel Starr. He fought at the battle of Ridgefield, April 27, 1777. He joined the main army and spent the winter at Valley Forge and was at the battle of Monmouth, New Jersey, June 28, 1778. In February 1779, due to depredations and suffering of the troops, there was an insubordination among some of them. He and another soldier left for Long Island not daring to go home on account of the patriotism of his friends, but on the issue of the proclamation of pardon he rejoined his Regt. At one time, from the privation and suffering of the troops, a portion of them, Strong included, became insubordinate and drew their bayonets; General Putman had difficulty getting control over his men and one was shot by the sentinel. Strong, with another, escaped to Long Island, fearing to return home. On the issuing of a proclamation of pardon to those who returned to duty, he rejoined his regiment. After his discharge he continued to serve various tours of duty in the militia. He applied for a pension May 18, 1818, while living in Hamilton County, Ohio and on the 1820 Rev. War pension list. He bought a piece of land in Colerain Township and lived and died there May 26, 1821. He was buried in Strong Farm Cemetery near the Great Miami River at the mouth of Riedisell Run in Colerain Township. L. R. Strong of Taylors Creek was a grandson. A letter written by him in 1819 was dated in Cincinnati, but in 1821 he owned land in Colerain in Hamilton County at the age of 61. Two of his children were blind. He was a weaver. TAYLOR.. ROBERT, Col., (Washington Co.) [39.41998 -81.45187]

Born on December 7, 1735 Providence County, Rhode Island. He served with Rhode Island while acting in the capacity of Captain and Major of United Company of Artillery, Providence, Rhode Island. Captain Robert Taylor served with his commission of May 1776 throughout the war in Rhode Island Militia and was promoted to Major in June of 1777. He was elected to Lt. Colonel in May of 1790. He then was elected Colonel in May of 1795 in the Revolutionary War. Rhode Island appears to have used the greater part of her men at home trying to gain independence as a Colony rather than as a nation. There was a very poor record kept of the different organizations, but a few Muster Rolls and Payrolls now to be found. Yet they did much toward gaining the independence of the Colony and nation. They are counted as Revolutionary soldiers. The original commission as Captain was given by Nicholas Cooke, Governor of the Colony of Rhode Island, May 6, 1776. He married Jane Alexander (1740-1819); children: Rebecca. He Died in 1801 and Buried at Mound Cemetery, 5th and Scammel Streets, Marietta, Washington Co., OH 45750. Cemetery notes and/or description: The Mound Cemetery was established in 1801 by the citizensof Marietta, Ohio, to preserve an Ohio Hopewell burial mound dating from 100 BC to 500 AD, and provide for settler burials. After the Revolutionary War, the area along the Ohio River and Marietta attracted many veterans rewarded with land grants.

General Rufus Putnam donated land for the cemetery. The cemetery is thought to have the largest number of Revolutionary War Officer burials, among other important Ohio River pioneer settlers and Northwest Territory politicians. Burials continue to today despite the limited space. MI : "Colonel Robert Taylor, 1746-1801." TAYLOR, SAMUEL, CAPT. (Tuscarawas County) [40.639586 -81.455061]

Birth site and Date is unknown, but he was probably from Shenandoah County, Virginia.

He served as a Private in the 3rd & 8th Pennsylvania Regiments in Colonel Campbell's Company commanded by Colonel John Gibson for at least October to February 1779 in OH. He died on February 23, 1779 with a group who were ambushed while gathering firewood at Fort Laurens and killed by Indians under the command of the British. The Americans completed the construction of Fort Laurens—named after Henry Laurens, president of the Continental Congress—in early December 1778 under the command of General Lachlan McIntosh. The fort, built on the west bank of the Tuscarawas River was to serve three purposes. First, the Americans hoped to use Fort Laurens as a base to attack the British garrison located at Detroit. Second, it would hopefully deter American Indians loyal to the British from conducting raids against American settlers in eastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania. And finally, by offering protection to the neutral Christian Delaware's, the Americans might convince them to forsake their neutrality and join the patriots' cause.
In total, 21 soldiers lost their lives at Fort Laurens after a handful of British soldiers and a couple hundred Wyandot, Mingo, Munsee, and Delaware warriors laid siege to the fort before it was abandoned in 1779. Later, part of the fort was demolished during the building of the Ohio and Erie Canal. Currently none of the original fort remains above ground, but the outline of the fort is visible.

(Isaac) removed to Charleston, Virginia, where he lived a few years, and in 1797 emigrated to Lake county (then Geauga county), Ohio. After a year he came to Middlefield township, which was then a wilderness, and erected one of the first cabins for a dwelling. This was then a favorite hunting-ground of the Indians, and the family were on very friendly terms with the savages, although they never lost a fear of their treachery. Isaac Thomson was a soldier in the war of the Revolution, having run away from home in his youth to join the army. He was disabled after about a years service and on this account he came home, but later on he raised a company at his own expense, and was elected Captain of the same. For a time he served as a member of Washington's body-guard and was with him in his marches and other military movements. He was also in the expedition against Quebec and after the close of the Revolutionary war he located in Juniata county, Pennsylvania, where he remained a few years, and then, on account of the unhealthful character of the section, he removed to Ohio. His life was an eventful one and he died, at the age of seventy-three years.

He Married Rhoda Hopkins (1750-1832), 1780; Children: Henry, Rhoda, Frederick, Edward, George, Edward and Archibald. He Died in Canfield, on December 30, 1817 and Buried at Canfield Cemetery, East Main Street, Canfield, Mahoning County, OH 44406.
Cemetery notes and/or description: The cemetery is located on the south side of East Main Street at its intersection with Winona Avenue. The cemetery is located in the city of Canfield, Mahoning County, Ohio. He was a blacksmith by trade. Elijah Wadswoth enlisted in the army and served thru the war, and at war's end he was a Captain. Before the war began, he was worth a few hundred dollars but at the close of the war was not worth a dollar. Wadsworth was one of the earliest persons of the Connecticut Land Company: on the 2nd day of September, 1795, he, with others, signed the original contract with Andrew Kingsbury. Wadsworth spent the Summer of 1799 at Canfield and other towns, returned home in the Fall, and came again in 1801.

In 1801, Wadsworth assisted in obtaining the first mail route from Pittsburgh to the North East. Before this route was established, the nearest Post Office to Trumbull County was in Pittsburgh. At the Central Post Office very little knowledge of the country north west of Pittsburgh was possessed by the Government, as a letter dated May 16, 1801 from Abram Bradley-the first Assistant Post Master General-to Mr. Wadsworth shows. Mr. Bradley enclosed an advertisement for a proposition for carrying the mail from Pittsburgh to Warren. Bradley states that we have no correct idea of the distance to Warren, but the price for carrying would be from two dollars to three and a half counting the distance one way to carry the mail once in two weeks, and asks to be informed of the distance from Pittsburgh to Warren.

WARD, WILLIAM, (Pickaway Co.) [39.68360 -82.89060]

Born on December 25, 1743, in Hampshire, England to Parents: William Ward, .Sr. He served as a Private in Captain Francis Taylor's Company of the 2nd Virginia Regiment, commanded by Colonel Alexander Spotwood, March, 1777-March, 1778. He Married Nancy (Ann) Courtney; Children: Charles, Elizabeth, Mary, William, Robert, James, George and Richard. He Died on November 28, 1814, Walnut Township, near Circleville, OH and Buried at Reber Hill Cemetery, 16810 Winchester Road, Ashville, Pickaway Co., OH 43103, on Snider J. Ward's lot. William's father, desiring that he should learn a trade, apprenticed William to his Uncle Charles who did not however treat the lad as he deserved. He accordingly resented his uncles mistreatment and ran away. He secured a place on an English vessel through a distant relative, Commodore Ward of the English Navy. After making several trips across the ocean, he finally concluded to remain in this country despite the fact that Commodore Ward offered him every inducement to return to England. The Commodores motive in constraining the young man to return to England was not wholly unselfish, for William owed the Commodore the price of passage across the ocean. The Commodore sold the young man for an amount equal to the price of passage across the Atlantic, to a Mr. Snyder, a resident of Pendelton County, VA. Between young Ward and freedom lay 10 acres of saplings and underbrush which he had to grub to secure his release from servitude. While engaged in working out his freedom, he became acquainted with a young woman named Nancy Courtney, whose birthplace was somewhere in Scotland and who, like himself, was working out the price of her passage to this country. After securing his own freedom, he assisted Nancy in her work and hand in hand they emerged from the gloom of servitude into the clear light of American freedom. WARRINGTON, WILLIAM, E. (Delaware Co.) [40.25652 -83.20799]

Born on April 10, 1751 Accomac Co., Virginia, believed to be the son of William Warrington (1695-1768). He served as a Private under Colonel Matthews, Captain Snead, Washington Life Guards, Enl 1776 from VA ; 1777 was transferred to Connecticut in Chiefs Guard, under Captain Caleb Gibbs, Combat veteran of the Revolutionary War credited with saving the life of General George Washington by intercepting poison intended for the General. He married four times – 1) Name unknown, 2) Leah Townsend – children were: John Warrington (1797 - 1871), Sarah (1799 - 1883) who married William Mershon (Feb 28, 1796 - July 2, 1864) on June 1, 1820 in Mason Co. KY. Mary (1800 - ?) Married Stephen Townsend. William Warrington III (1801 - 1856), Leah Townsend-Warrington later married Isaac Hawk Mar 18, 1851., 3) Nancy Holland – children were Julia Ann Warrington (1801 – 1899), Cosmore G. Warrington (1810 - 1878) and George Washington Warrington (? - ?) who died as an infant, 4) Nancy Pryer Littell (1791 - 1874) whom he married Feb 12, 1836 - one child named Charlotte Jane Warrington Turner (Dec. 31, 1836 - Mar 15, 1918). He is also credited with having served in the War of 1812. William eventually settled in Maysville, KY but departed in 1826 after the death of his third wife Nancy Holland in 1824 for Ohio where he died in Delaware County.

He Died on May 10, 1850 and Buried at Mill Creek Cemetery, Ostrander, Scioto Twp, Delaware Co., OH 43061. One existing mystery is the discrepancy of William's birth and death dates on his original marker and the newer marker erected by Ostrander Masonic Lodge 594. The month and year for both dates on both markers are consistent but the days differ by approximately two weeks. No explanation has been found.
The following story was published in the Jan - Dec 1919 issue Volume LIII of the Daughters of the American Revolution Magazine:
It was William Warrington's delight to narrate to his family and friends anecdotes of his General Washington: One of these relates to an incident in which Martha Washington figured. She was with the General at Headquarters and had occasion to go outside the lines. Upon her return, having forgotten the countersign, Sergeant Warrington, who was acting as the sentinel at Headquarters, refused to permit her to pass. Mrs. Washington pleaded, but all in vain. The only suggestion he would consider was to inform the General of the predicament of the "Lady of Gracious Memory". General Washington went to her rescue and laughingly whispered the password to his wife and she was permitted to pass by the obdurate sentinel. In telling this story Sergeant Warrington was wont to say "It was the only time I ever heard General Washington laugh heartily".

He Married 1) Elizabeth Bancker (1757-1781) 1779, 2) Catherine Hodgeboom (1765-1805); children: Walter, Maria, James & Henry. He died on December 13, 1807 in Columbia, New York and buried at Claverack Dutch Reformed Churchyard, Claverack , Columbia County, New York. Samuel was the stepson of Continental Congressman and diplomat Silas Deane, Webb served as his private secretary, which exposed him to the political events immediately preceding the start of the Revolution. Webb commanded a company of light infantry and took part in the Battle of Bunker Hill, receiving a wound and earning commendations for his bravery. He then became General Israel Putnam's aide de camp, serving until June, 1776 when he joined the staff of General George Washington as his aide and private secretary with the rank of Lieutenant Colonel. With Colonel Joseph Reed, Webb established an important precedent for future communications with the British by refusing to accept a letter from British Admiral Lord Richard Howe because it was addressed not to General Washington, but to "George Washington, Esquire". Webb took part in the Battle of Long Island, and was wounded again at the Battles of White Plains and Trenton. After taking part in the Battle of Princeton, Webb returned to Connecticut and used his inheritance to raise and equip a regiment at his own expense, of which he was commander with the rank of Colonel. In late 1777 Webb was taken prisoner during a raid on Long Island and remained on parole until his exchange in 1781. After his exchange in 1781, Webb assumed command of one of the Continental Army's two newly organized light infantry regiments with the brevet rank of Brigadier General and served until the end of the war. After the war Webb was a founder of the Society of the Cincinnati and resided in New York City until becoming a farmer in Claverack.

WEIST, JACOB, (Fairfield County) [39.78378 -82.63592]

Born in Germany, May 6, 1730. He served as a Private and Corporal in Captain Martin Bowman's Company, Pennsylvania Militia. He Married Mary Roshon (1732-1801) 1751; children: Christian. He arrived in America in 1751, living for a year in Philadelphia, then settling on a farm among the Brethren community in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania. Jacob paid for Mary Roshen's (1732- 1801) passage from Germany in 1752. As was often the case with immigrants, a term of indenture was entered into in exchange for paying for passage upon arrival in the colonies. This must have been a positive event for they were married a year later, in 1752, in Philadelphia. Together they produced one son, Christian, and one additional but unidentified child. In 1763 Jacob purchased 193 acres of land from Michael Baughman and 200 acres from Christian Baughman in the Cocalico Township of Lancaster Pennsylvania. It was on these lands that Jacob and his family would make home. He Died in Lancaster, PA on December 4, 1806 and Buried at Baugher Cemetery, Brook Road NW, Dumontsville, Fairfield Co., OH 43130. Cemetery notes and/or description: Until the 1930's a church stood beside Bacher-Baugher Cemetery to the south. According to local historian, Charles Goslin, this church was a combination German Reform and Presbyterian (St. Paul's German and English Evangelical Lutheran). Land was granted for the cemetery in 1847 but graves date from as early as 1806. There are four Revolutionary War veterans buried here. There are many open spaces between the tombstones indicating that there may be stones missing. Many of the stones are made from sandstone and are flaking badly and are difficult or impossible to read. A number of the stones have been repaired. Unfortunately at the back of this cemetery along the fence is a pile of stones (and pieces of stones) which have been removed from the cemetery proper.

He Married Eleanor Laws Edwards in 1780; Children: William, James, John, Edward, Elizabeth, Lettuce, Sarah, Jane, Ellen. He Died in Aberdeen, OH. August 8, 1808 and Buried in Old Cemetery, Aberdeen, OH. Farmer. It appears that James Edwards died in 1804 and later his son-in-law and daughter, John and Eleanor Laws (Edwards) West, died in which they were all buried origally in a small family plot on the bank of the Ohio River within what is now Aberdeen. Flood waters, most certainly the flood waters of 1913 and 1937, washed away evidence of their graves. As late as 1913, their graves were still all to be found for there is an official report that Ripley's Maude Wylie submitted to the Smithsonian for preservation and to the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution for safe keeping. She identified the graves of both James Wm. Edwards and John West as having been positively identified in that old Aberdeen family graveyard. Many veterans buried in family cemeteries, neighborhood plots or small church burial grounds which are now extinct and or built over during the disappearance of rural areas and the increase of urban communities in Hamilton County during the late 19th century or 20th century are now lost to our knowledge. Their families having re-located, their descendants now not knowing their homes, deeds, and/or burial locations lead to their obscurity.

WILSON, JAMES, (Ross Co.) [39.343 -83.369]

Born on July 3, 1743 in Chambersburg, Pennsylvania. James was a member of the "Committee of Observation" for Cumberland County. Pennsylvania. 12 Jul 1774 to Aug 1776. He was reportedly a captain in the Militia though this name is common throughout Pennsylvania and the certainty of the right person of the name is not possible. In 1779 and 1780. James paid a "supply tax" in Cumberland County. He married Agnes Henderson (1745-1796) in 1769; Children: John, Wilson, Eleanor, Sarah, Amanda, Edward, Polly, Betsey, Rebecca, Robert & Sallie. moved from Pennsylvania to Ohio in 1797, accompanied by most of his children, his wife having died previously. He and several emigrants clubbed together and built a flat-boat on the Monongahela River, on which they placed their families and floated down to the Ohio river, and thence down that river to where Portsmouth now is, but was then a dense wilderness. They had on board horses, cattle and sheep. The company encamped till my grandfather and uncle John went up to Chillicothe and procured a keel boat and returned with it down the Scioto River. While they were gone, the wolves made sad havoc with their little flock of sheep. When the keel boat arrived at the mouth of the Scioto River, the families and effects were put on it and the boat was keeled up the river. When they arrived at Chillicothe, they found but one house with a shingle roof and that was a log structure. They arrived in the spring season, and the families remained there some weeks while the working portion of the males went to Pickaway Plains and planted a crop of corn, after which the women and children were taken to their new homes.

The Indians had not yet left the country, and used to assemble at the residences of the new-comers and sing their songs which were to the whites a great novelty. But the natives of the forest soon afterward disappeared and melted away into the western forests, leaving their successors, the white settlers, in quiet possession of their "hunting grounds". They continued to cultivate the land and soon the aborigines were almost forgotten. Week after week, month after month, year after year, other settlers crowded in--and they were always welcome--and their children grew up, and soon began to marry, multiply and increase. WILSON, WILLIAM, (Trumbull Co.) [41.38810 -80.86750]

Born 1752 County Antrim, Ireland. He served as a Private with Colonel Irvines 6th Pennsylvania Regiment in the Revolutionary War. On January 1, 1777, the survivors of the 5th Battalion, along with exchanged prisoners and new recruits, were reorganized into the 6th Pennsylvania. Most of the regiment's men were recruited from Berks and Chester counties, although many came from Philadelphia and as far away as Northumberland County. During 1777, the regiment participated in the Philadelphia Campaign and fought at the Battles of Brandywine (11 Sept.) and Germantown (4 Oct.). At Brandywine, the women of the 6th Pennsylvania were cited for their bravery under fire while bringing water to the men. The regiment spent the winter of 1777-78 at Valley Forge and took part in the Battle of Monmouth (28 June) the following summer. In 1779, the 6th Pennsylvania was part of the force commanded by "Mad" Anthony Wayne that stormed the British fortifications at Stony Point, NY (16 July). It spent the rest of the year in garrison at West Point and probably wintered at Morristown. The next year, the regiment took part in a number of small engagements in New Jersey and again wintered at Morristown. On New Year's Day, 1781, members of the 6th Pennsylvania joined the mutiny of the Pennsylvania regiments then quartered at Morristown. After a settlement was reached, the regiment was furloughed at Trenton on January 17. Soldiers remaining in the regiment were reassigned to other units and eventually sent south to take part in the Yorktown Campaign.

He was commissioned a Lieutenant in the field. He died on January 29, 1818 and was buried in the Woodmansee Sugar Valley Farm Cemetery, 5477 Sugar Maple Run, Hamilton, OH 45011. SAR Ancestor #P-324084 & DAR #A - 128617. The grave was marked with a SAR footstone in 2014 by CCSAR during an Ohio SAR Society Ceremony. He and his wife Hannah Warden immigrated to Butler County, Ohio, with their youngest son Daniel Woodmansee (1777-1842) and his family about 1808. James was a commissioned Lieutenant, Captain John Stout's Company, of the New Jersey Militia, during the Revolutionary War. The families floated down the Ohio River to Cincinnati in flat boats. From there they moved northward and settled in Butler County. During April of 1809, Daniel bought 160 acres of land in Liberty Township, Butler County, Ohio, and established a farm that would be known as Sugar Valley. In addition to farming, Daniel held several important offices in Liberty Township, Butler County and the State of Ohio. He served in the Ohio General Assembly and the Senate. Daniel's wife, Rachel Cushman (1778-1875) was a direct descendent of the Mayflower. Born on December 27, 1754 in Monmouth Co. New Jersey to parents David (1719-1799) & Penelope Warden (1728-1805) Woodmansee. He served in the Monmouth County Militia during the Revolutionary War in Caption John Stout's Co on April 2, 1776. He married Aulice Jeffrey (1761-1836); Children: Job, Mary, David, Samuel, Frances, Isaac, James, Alice, Phebe Ann, Lydie, Penelope & Hannah. He died on April 26, 1837 in Highland Co., OH and buried at Highland Cemetery, 7828 OSRte 28, Highland Co., OH 45132. Samuel was the fourth child of David and Penelope. He joined three of his brothers and cousins in the Monmouth Co. Militia during the Revolutionary War under Captain Stout's Company. He married Aulice and had at least twelve children which they raised on their land in New Jersey. In 1809 Samuel and two of his sons-in-law bought land for the Good Luck Church at Lanoka Harbor. A number of the family are buried there in the Churchyard Cemetery where some old limestone markers may still be seen. Samuel and his wife are not buried there as they left in 1818 to relocate in Highland County, Ohio.
All except three of their children followed their parents to Ohio, although it is not known the method of travel. They settled in that location as it was part of the "Virginia Military District", land set aside for soldiers of the Revolution in lieu of cash payment for the service rendered during the war. Some sold their land rather than settling on it. One of them, Lieutenant Joseph Conway received a large portion, had it surveyed, and after his death it was sold by his heirs. Samuel's land was part of this Joseph Conway survey. Samuel and Aluice are the earlist marked graves and are located next to the Methodist Episcopal Church in the Highland (formerly Lexington) Cemetery. WOODWORTH, JAMES, (Lake Co.) [41.72890 -81.23360]

Born on July 8, 1766, Coventry, Connecticut to parents Peleg (1732-1811) and Mary Terryl (1735-1770) Woodworth. He served as an Ensign of the 4th Company or train band in the 12th Regiment of the State of Conn. He married 1) Ruth__, 2) Lucretia Catlin; Children: Sabra, Lucretia, Dorcus, Emily, Rowand, James, Justus, Harvey, Parmenas, Mary Ann, Lysander, Luther and Tirzah. James lived in Tolland until 8 years of age. his mother died April 26, 1770 when he was about 4 and he then lived 4 years with his grandfather Terryl. He was bound out to live with Jonathan Bliss of Wilbraham, Mass., and lived with him 8 years. At 16 years he went to learn the mason trade with Asa Ayres of Wilbraham. After his marriage to Lucretia Catlin, they lived in South Hadley on a 19-acre farm near the center of town until the year 1803. Asa Ayres is listed in the 1790 Census at South Hadley; the only Asa Ayres listed in Mass. It is probable that while James was serving his apprenticeship, Asa moved from Wilbraham to South Hadley, only a few miles away, James going with him.
James is not listed in the 1790 Census, but his father-in-law, Samuel Catlin is. There is one extra male over 16 listed in the household. Could this be James Woodworth? James is listed in South Hadley, Hampshire Co., Mass., in the 1800 Census, the family consisting of himself and wife and 8 children: 2 males under 10; 1 male 10-16; four females under 10; and one female 10-16. Ensign of the 4th Company or train band in the 12th Regiment of the State of Connecticut. On 3 February 1803, he moved to Bolton, Washington Co., New York, which is on the west side of Lake George. After the Revolution, men came to the wild wooded area; the majority settling on the hilltops overlooking the lake, the main artery of the area, and the balance of the narrow lake plain. Farming and lumbering was the main source of income (Brown, p. 1261). WYLLYS, JOHN PALSGRAN, (Hamilton/Butler/ or IN Counties*)

Born in 1754. He served throughout the Revolutionary War as Major of the Third Connecticut Regiment; was with General Harmer in his expedition against the Indians, and was killed in the attack on Miami Town ?, 30 September, 1790. [*Most of Ohio's American Indians had been driven from the eastern portion of the state during the American Revolution, although many American Indians still hunted in this area. In 1790, Josiah Harmar, commander of the U.S. army in the Northwest Territory, was stationed at Fort Washington (present-day Cincinnati, Ohio). Henry Knox, the Secretary of War, ordered Harmar to end the threat of American Indian attack in western Ohio. Harmar marched from Fort Washington with 320 regular soldiers and roughly 1,100 militiamen, primarily from Pennsylvania and Kentucky. The militiamen were poorly trained, many did not know how to correctly load and fire a musket, and some did not even have a gun. Harmar was to destroy American Indian villages near modern-day Fort Wayne, Indiana. He intended to attack the Miami, the Shawnee, and the Delaware, along with the villages of other American Indian peoples located in western Ohio. Many American Indians fled their villages as Harmar's army approached. The U.S. forces burned several villages, but the American Indians regrouped. On October 20, the natives, led by Little Turtle, attacked a detachment from Harmar's army led by Colonel John Hardin. Hardin's force consisted of several hundred militiamen and a few regular soldiers. Hardin led his men into an ambush. Most of the militiamen fled the battle. The regular soldiers put up a brief resistance, but the natives killed many of them. Some of the retreating militiamen did not stop until they crossed the Ohio River into Kentucky. Harmar sent another detachment after Little Turtle's warriors two days later. Once again, the natives inflicted heavy casualties upon the U.S. forces. Harmar immediately retreated to the safety of Fort Washington. He had lost 183 men killed or missing in this campaign. It became known as Harmar's Defeat. The precise location isn't known.]He married, as below, his cousin, Jerusha, daughter of Colonel Samuel Talcott, but had no issue (Children). Descendant of Gov Wyllys, 3rd Governor of Conn. Bur somewhere in Ohio. Fur infor Office of Adj Gen Ohio. Precise death and Burial site is unknown.

ZANE, ELIZABETH, (Belmont County) [40.1000 -80.7181]

Born October 30, 1759 Westmoreland County, Virginia to parents William Zane and Nancy Ann Nolan. Wife of 1) Ephraim McLaughlin and 2) Jacob Clark; children: Mary, Mariam Minerva, Sarah, Rebecca, Hannah, Catherine and Ebenezer. She went from Ft Henry to her brother Colonel Zane's house, where he tied a table cloth around her wrist, filled it with powder. Fleet of foot, she returned amid volleys, unharmed. "A man will be such great loss. I will not be missed" she had said. Zane was a woman of remarkable character, full of activity, and of indomitable energy. She was equal to every emergency that arose in a life full of startling incident. Her thrift, management, industry, intelligence and untiring labors, were noted characteristics. "She was as brisk as a bee," said one who knew her well, she could turn her hand to anything. She was the surgeon of the neighborhood, becoming quite an adept in the art and was called upon to perform difficult and serious operations. She was also a skillful nurse, and had nerve to undertake the most difficult enterprises when necessity demanded. In 1785, a man named Mills was shot by the Indians while spearing fish at night, some distance above the fort, Rising in the canoe with his torch to throw the light in the right direction, he received a whole volley from a party of Indians on the shore. He was brought to Wheeling, and Mrs. Zane extracted seventeen bullets from his body, cutting them out with a razor as nicely as a surgeon with his delicate instruments. Mills was nursed and cared for by her and a Mrs. Williams, fully recovered, and lived for many years, a monument to the skill and care of these women in their patriotic service. She Died in August 1823 at 64 years of age and Buried at Walnut Grove Cemetery, Martins Ferry, Belmont County, OH. He Married Lucy Anna Sheffield (1761-1820) at Marietta, 1789, (d Nov 18, 1820). He Died in Cincinnati, OH in September1811and Buried in Presbyterian Church Cemetery but re-interred in Woodland Cemetery, Dayton, Montgomery Co., OH. lot 1 to 4, Sec 55 to 65. MI : "Major David Zeigler, to whose memory this stone is erected was born in the city of Heidelberg 1748. Held a commission and served in the army of Russia. Migrated to Pa 1775; joined Army of Revolution, till by the treaty of 1783 the Independence of his adopted country was acknowledged. In the western country he served under General Harney and St Clair and died in Dayton, OH in Sept 1811; Universally esteemed and respected." GM by S. A. R. Bronze marker in 1819. First Mayor of Cincinnati, Revolutionary War Officer. A native of Heidelberg, Germany, Johann David Ziegler traveled to Russia in 1768 and enlisted under the banners of Empress Catherine II, who had just declared war against the Ottoman Empire. He served under General Weissman and participated in the Battles of Tulcza, Maczin, and Babadag. After their conquest of the Crimea in 1774, Ziegler resigned and returned to Germany after he was honorably discharged and awarded a badge of appreciation. He emigrated to America in 1775 and settled in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania. After news of the Battle of Lexington, Zeigler entered the service for the United States Continental Army in June, 1775 and was commissioned as 3rd Lieutenant in Captain Ross' Company, 1st Pennsylvania Infantry. After serving in the field, he was reassigned as Adjutant in Colonel William Thompson's Battalion of Riflemen. He was promoted to 2nd Lieutenant and participated in the Battle of Long Island and was severely wounded. He was promoted to 1st Lieutenant for meritorious conduct and then as Captain of the Invalid Corps. After a period of convalescence, he was transferred to the field again and served in the Valley Forge Campaign and at the Battle of Brandywine. He fought with distinction at the Battle of Monmouth in 1778 and afterwards became Senior Captain. He was then assigned as drill instructor and inspector of the Pennsylvania Brigade. After a brief stint as commissary general, he returned to the field in 1780, was captured by the British and was held as a prisoner of war until he managed to escape. Ziegler remained in the army after the war and was assigned to serve under General Harmar in 1784. He fought against Native Americans in 1788, commanded Fort Harmar, and was promoted to Major by General George Washington in 1789. Ziegler commanded Fort Washington before his resignation in 1792 and resettled nearby in Cincinnati, Ohio. Briefly a farmer, he operated a grocery store until he became the president of Cincinnati's first Council in 1802. Cincinnati was chartered as a village in 1802 and Ziegler was its first Chief Magistrate. He is considered as the first mayor even though the Cincinnati wasn't incorporated as a city until 1819. He declined reelection in 1804 to accept an appointment by President Thomas Jefferson as Marshal for the Ohio District. In 1807, he was appointed as Adjutant General of the Ohio Militia. He became surveyor of the Port of Cincinnati from 1809 until his death in 1811. He died at his residence in Cincinnati when he was 63 years old. He was originally buried at the Presbyterian Grounds on 4th Street in Cincinnati and moved to Woodland Cemetery and Arboretum, 118 Woodland Avenue, Dayton, Montgomery Co., OH 45409 in 1843. ZEISBERGER, DAVID (Tuscarawas County) [40.44304 -81.41108]

Born on April 11, 1721 in Zanchtenthal, Moravia (Czech Republic). He supplied the Patriotic Service of intelligence to the American forces about movements and activities of the Indians. In addition to intelligence the Moravian Indians gave what little they could to help Fort Laurens food supply. In August 1781 he became aware that Monakaduro, Chief of the Shawnees, was planning an attack on Fort Henry. David Zeisberger had a trusted Moravian Indian boy take a message to Col. Gibson at Fort Pitt. By the time Chief Monakaduro and Matthew Elliott reached Fort Pitt on 13 September 1781, they had been warned. Ten men rushed out of the Fort and all but one were killed. Monakaduro broke off the attack when he realized that they knew they were coming. The remainder of the American Revolution was very hard upon the Moravians. The hostilities were so intense for a while that David Zeisberger helped them establish a new village in Canada. In 1798 the United States Congress gave the Moravians a tract of land in Ohio. They established Goshen and this where he died ten years later. It isbelieved he did not marry. Religious figure. David Zeisberger was a Moravian clergyman, missionary, and translator among the Native Americans in the Thirteen Colonies. He travelled from Pennsylvania to Michigan territory. He became fluent in the Onondaga Iroquoian dialect. He also produced dictionaries and religious works in Iroquoian and Algonquian. He worked among the Delaware of Pennsylvania, coming into conflict with British authorities over his advocacy of Natives' rights and his ongoing efforts to establish white and native Moravian communities in southern Ohio. His relations with British authorities worsened during the American Revolutionary War and in 1781 he was arrested and held at Fort Detroit. On March 8, 1782,while he was imprisoned, 98 of his Native American converts in Ohio were murdered by Pennsylvania militiamen in a bloody event known as the Gnadenhutten Massacre. He died at 87 years of age on November 17, 1808 in Goshen, Tuscarawas County, and buried at the Indian Cemetery in the center of Goshen, Tuscarawas County, OH 44663.
