Message from the President

Over the past four months, I have had the privilege to attend a number of chapter and state hosted meetings and events in our great state; and I am proud to report that the patriotic spirit is deeply rooted within the structure of the Ohio Society, and remains a strong influence in our forward momentum.

I submit to you that the chapter, with its membership, is the most important unit of our state and national organizations.

The chapter is at the frontline of the introduction of our historical, educational, and patriotic objects to our communities. It also serves a critical function in the motivation and engagement of our fellow compatriots in our mission; for without the commitment of our members at the grassroots level, the presence of the SAR in the community will languish.

The importance of the chapter is apparent in the very structure of the Ohio Society. Our Bylaws define the Ohio Society Board of Management as being vested with the authority to conduct the affairs of the Society. Its members consist of elected officers, district chairmen, all past-state presidents, as well as all currently-serving chapter presidents and secretaries. With twenty-two chartered chapters, the Board of Management has forty-four positions allotted to these chapter leaders.

While membership recruitment and retention are critical, the establishment of new chapters is equal in importance. The accessibility of members to an active and thriving chapter provides them with opportunities to become involved, as well as encouragement to remain active. This eventually will lead to a greater SAR presence within their communities, and increased recruitment possibilities.

Every so often, it behooves us to re-evaluate the roles we play within the SAR. This ongoing process is important not only for the Ohio Society, but chapters as well, for their leaders have a vested interest in the affairs of the state organization. Are we serving our mission well? Are we motivating our members to become involved?

While I propose that the patriotic spirit remains strong within our organization, let us periodically set the bar one notch higher.

Understanding The Americanism Contests and Score Sheet

Recently, two chapters in the Ohio Society were presented with the Liberty Bell Americanism Award. Nationally, the Western Reserve Society and the Cincinnati Chapter received two of the four awards presented by the National Society for the 2014 calendar year. In addition, the Cincinnati Chapter took one of four President General's Cup awards nationally.

How did these chapters compete nationally for these awards? An understanding of the Americanism Score Sheet will shed some light on this often overlooked competition.

The Americanism Contest is actually four different contests that are combined into one score sheet. These are the Liberty Bell Americanism Award; the Allene Wilson Groves Americanism Award; the President General's Streamer Award; and the President General's Cup.

The Liberty Bell Americanism Award recognizes the top chapters that participate in the various educational outreach programs of the SAR. The award is divided into four categories based on membership size: 10 to 49, 50 to 99, 100 to 199, and 200 or more members. The NSSAR Americanism Committee judges this contest at the Spring Leadership meeting and the award is presented at the following Annual Congress. An Americanism Streamer is presented to the winner of each membership category.

The Allene Wilson Groves Americanism Award serves to recognize the top state societies that participate in the various educational outreach programs of the SAR. This award is divided into four categories based on membership size: 10 to 199, 200 to 499, 500 to 999, and 1,000 or more members. It is judged in the same process as the Liberty Bell Americanism Award, and a streamer is awarded.

The President General's Streamer Award is presented to the top chapters and state societies that record the best efforts with respect to various administrative goals that contribute to the success of the SAR. Four first place awards for state societies and chapters are presented based on membership size: state societies with membership from 10 to 199, 200 to 499, 500 to 999, and 1,000 or more; and chapters with membership from 10 to 49, 50 to 99, 100 to 199, and 200 or more.

The President General's Cup is presented annually to the top chapters with respect to a combined scoring system of both the Liberty Bell and President General's Streamer awards and chapter membership levels. Four awards are presented based on chapters with membership size from 10 to 49, 50 to 99, 100 to 199, and 200 or more.

These awards began in 1978 as scrapbook contests. Eventually a score sheet was introduced to capture data for the contests, and the scrapbook requirement was dropped. Revisions added categories to earn additional points.

By 2009, the score sheet had grown to 32 different categories in which points could be earned. Often, data entry for a single event would have to be made in as many as 6 different categories to earn the maximum number of points.

The score sheet was in both spreadsheet and document formats, with a lot of the items counting in both contests. Due to the complexity and multiple formats, the contests eventually evolved into where just a few chapters and state societies were competing each year.

The current score sheet is offered only in a spreadsheet format that allows points to be calculated based on specific data entry. Embedded formulas convert the entered data into points that the spreadsheet tabulates.

The Americanism Score Sheet may be downloaded from the Americanism Committee page on the NSSAR website. It is important to download a new score sheet each year, since categories and point assessments change.

Data entry should occur throughout the contest year instead of waiting until year's end to try to recreate the entire year.

This contest is tier based. Chapters submit Americanism Score Sheets to both the Ohio Society and the National Society. The Ohio Society combines the data from its chapters with its own, and also submits to the National Society.

There are two important deadlines to be observed. Score Sheets must be submitted to the Ohio Society by January 15th. The deadline to submit to the National Society is March 1st.

DAR News

The Ohio Society DAR extended an invitation to the SAR to participate in their Chapter Development and Revitalization Workshops, which were held in four locations throughout the state.

State President James Schaffer, DAR/C.A.R. Liaison Chairmen Paul M. Wilke & Dan Matheke, and Compatriot Lance Beebe variously attended the events, and delivered brief presentations that included discussions on the Ohio Society SAR's membership recruitment and retention goals, new chapter development initiatives, the importance that SAR places on membership activities, and recognition for DAR ladies who assist the SAR.

National Society 2016 Dues Increase

At the 125th National Society Annual Congress in Louisville, Kentucky, the 2016 annual dues for Regular members was raised from $30 to $35. Youth member dues were not increased, and fees remain the same. This increase is for National Society dues only.

The dues increase was proposed as being necessary to cover the costs of digitization of records and other genealogy expenses, however they were not earmarked for this.

The Ohio Society adjusted its Fees & Dues Schedule accordingly at its Summer Board of Management Meeting.

Ohio Society Fall 2015 Meetings Point Pleasant Battle Days

Once again, the Ohio Society will combine its Fall Executive Committee and Board of Management Meetings with the Battle Days Activities in Point Pleasant, West Virginia. The three day event is scheduled for Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, October 2, 3, and 4, 2015. Details and registration information is found within this newsletter; however portions of the event are hosted by the Point Pleasant Chapter of the West Virginia SAR. Registration and payments for those activities are to be made directly with that chapter, and can be located at www.wvssar.org.

We have reserved a block of sleeping rooms at the Hampton Inn in Gallipolis, Ohio, as we have for the past several years. However, we have outgrown the small meeting facilities at the hotel, and have reserved a meeting room at the American Legion Post 23 in Point Pleasant, West Virginia, 2 miles from the hotel. The Ohio Society has used this facility in the past. The Executive Committee, Board of Management, and Ladies' Auxiliary will hold their meetings at this location.

The Ohio Society expresses its gratitude to the Point Pleasant Chapter for its generosity in sharing this meeting facility with us.

Fort Laurens - Ohio's Only Revolutionary War Fort

On July 25th, 2015, the Ohio Society Sons of the American Revolution hosted its annual Fort Laurens Memorial Service at the site of this historic Revolutionary War fort in Bolivar, Tuscarawas County, Ohio. Members of the SAR, DAR, C.A.R. and other patriotic groups and organizations, migrate to this ceremony each year, and pay homage to the American soldiers who died in its siege in 1779. This year, SAR members came from Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia, Virginia, and Pennsylvania to participate in the ceremony, considered a national event in the National Society SAR organization. Perhaps a brief history lesson will explain why such importance is placed upon this historical site.

*SAR Color Guard Advances
The National Colors*

Fort Laurens was the first and only fort of the Revolutionary War established within the limits of what is now Ohio, and was built on the banks of the Tuscarawas River, now near the town of Bolivar, Ohio, in December of 1778 by General Lachlan McIntosh. The fort was intended to serve as a defense against attacks by the British and Native American Indians on settlers in the Ohio Country, and was to be a staging point in support of a planned attack on the British at Fort Detroit.

The Fort was named in honor of Henry Laurens, President of the Continental Congress.

Conditions during the winter were harsh, and General McIntosh removed all but 150 soldiers from the 8th Pennsylvania Regiment and the 13th Virginia Regiment to Fort Pitt, present day Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

Beginning February 22nd, 1779 and continuing until mid-March of that year, a small number of British soldiers of the 8th Regiment of Foot commanded by Captain Henry Bird, and a few hundred allied Native American warriors, laid siege to the fort after ambushing a group of defenseless American soldiers who were foraging outside of the compound. Amongst the British forces was the infamous Simon Girty.

During the nearly month-long struggle, the American soldiers were starved and frozen, being forced to eat roots and grass growing within the fort's walls. Some resorted to boiling their own moccasins, making a broth for consumption.

The British forces were also suffering the harsh conditions of that winter, and abandoned their siege on March 20th, 1779. Three days after the siege was lifted, American reinforcements arrived from Fort Pitt. A force of over 100 American soldiers remained at Fort Laurens until August 2, 1779, when it was determined it was no longer of value as a staging point in attacking the British at Fort Detroit, and was abandoned. In total, more than 20 American soldiers died at Fort Laurens.

Today, the Ohio Historical Connection, formerly the Ohio Historical Society, operates a museum at the site of Fort Laurens, under the management of the Zoar Community Association. On site is the Tomb of the Unknown Patriot of the American Revolution, which contains the remains of one of the American soldiers killed here, and discovered during archaeological excavations at the site. This brave soldier was laid to rest with full military honors by the Ohio National Guard in 1976. The remains of other soldiers who were killed during this struggle are interred in a crypt inside of the museum.

The site was placed on the National Register of Historic Places in 1970. While nothing remains of the fort's walls today, the Friends of Fort Laurens Foundation is actively engaged in fundraising efforts to reconstruct the fort, log by log.

The Ohio Society of the Sons of the American Revolution returns each year to conduct its memorial service in late July.
